JAPAN'S CAPTURE OF JOLUIT ISLAND ACT OF SELF-PROTECTION

American Officials Take Much Interest in Operation of Orientals

TOKIO, Oct. 7 (11:55 a. m., Wednesday).—The newspapers, commenting on the capture of the island of Jaluit by Japanese naval forces, declare that this action was necessary to safeguard Japan's territorial, commercial and maritime interests. They add that the seizure was justified also because of the seizure and destruction of shipping by the German cruiser Emden.

Washington View.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Declining, in the absence of all facts, to express any opinion as to whether the Japanese landing on the island of Jaluit, one of the Marshall group in the Pacific ocean, is in violation of the announcement by the Japanese foreign office at the beginning of the war, that Japanese participation would be confined to the far east, Secretary Bryan today was expecting the early arrival of some statement of the ultimate purpose of this act.

Already the secretary has interested himself in Japanese military operations against the German concession in Shan-Tung, probably animated by the appeal from the Chinese government against violation of Chinese integrity. The landing on the Marshall islands, however, has not yet been made the subject of representations to the state department, possibly for the reason that there is no one in a position corresponding to that of China. In Samoa, it is pointed out by officials, the United States has a very lively interest in any change of the sovereignty of the group because of the proximity of the German-owned islands to the American island of Tutuila.

On the whole, official opinion is that

SPRINGS RAISES $5,000 FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY

Committee of 100 Completes Campaign and Makes Report; Subscription Lists Still Open at Banks

Nearly $5,000 will be added to the national treasury of the American Red Cross society by the Pikes Peak chapter as the result of a two weeks' campaign for funds for European war sufferers. In exact figures, $4,553.54 was the total amount of money collected, but with promises of additional subscriptions and unredeemed pledges, the fund is expected to reach approximately $5,000.

With a meeting of the committee of 100 in the council chamber of the city hall yesterday afternoon the active work of the society closed, and no further personal canvassing will be attempted. Contributions may still be made at the banks, and lists have been left open for that purpose. A number of people attended the meeting yesterday and heard the reports of committees and work of the society explained. Several lists are still outstanding and all those who have not sent in their reports are requested to make them to Mrs. Leonard E. Curtis, treasurer of the local division, as soon as possible. The funds will be sent at once to the national organization through the state treasurer, Joseph A. Thatcher in Denver.

Resolutions were adopted by the members of the committee of 100 that a vote of thanks be sent to the banks, newspapers and others who had helped in the campaign.

LIQUORS BEAR HALF OF SPECIAL WAR TAX

Gasoline and Auto Sales Will Not Be Taxed in Proposed Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The caucus of senate Democrats on the war revenue bill failed to complete its labors tonight and recessed just before midnight to meet again tomorrow morning. Decision had been reached, however, that imposes the bulk of the $100,000,000 emergency revenue measure upon beer and whisky, which will yield nearly $60,000,000 annually under increased taxation.

The caucus also eliminated proposed taxes on gasoline and automobile sales and cut in two the proposed $2 per $1,000 tax on bank capital and surplus. Consideration of various proposed stamp taxes and emergency levies on perfumery, cosmetics and patent medicines was not reached tonight.

Increase on Beer.

First action of the caucus was to vote an increase in the proposed extra tax on beer from 50 cents to 75 cents a barrel, to make the total tax $1.75 a barrel, with a drawback of 5 per cent for purchase of revenue stamps in advance. The amendment, urged by Senator Williams of Mississippi, was carried by a large majority, after Senator Stone had made a vigorous speech against it. A special revenue tax on rectifiers of distilled spirits of 5 cents a gallon was also adopted. Together, the proposed taxes on liquors would yield an annual revenue of nearly $50,000,000.

Democrats of the finance committee had agreed to the house tax of $1.50 a barrel on beer, which would yield, at 50 cents over the normal tax, an added revenue of $32,500,000 annually. The further addition of 25 cents a barrel by the senate Democrats would yield another $16,000,000. With the 5 per cent discount for prompt payment figured, the least to be derived from beer would be approximately $46,000,000.

German Town in Canada to Raise $75,000 War Fund

BERLIN, Ont., Oct. 6.—More than $50,000 had been subscribed up to tonight in the local campaign to raise $75,000 for the Canadian patriotic fund. This was the second of a three-day crusade. The following cablegram was sent to Lord Kitchener:

"Berlin, Ont., a city of 18,000 population, of which 12,000 are German or of German descent, propose to raise on October 5, 6 and 7, £15,000 ($75,000) or more for the national patriotic fund."

Lord Kitchener replied as follows:

"My best wishes for success to your efforts."

BAYSTATE PROGRESSIVES INDORSE PROHIBITION IN CONVENTION AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The Progressive party at its state convention today declared in favor of national prohibition. This stand was taken only after a sharp discussion, during which some of the speakers hinted that said representatives of the liquor interests were on the convention floor.

Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole, Progressive candidate for governor in the last two years, opposed the idea in an address in which he questioned the moral right of the government to prohibit the use of alcoholic drinks in the country.

SEC. M'ADOO SCORES THE MONEY HOARDERS

No Reason for Financial Stringency in America, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—"There is evidence in some quarters that individuals and corporations are hoarding money; it is just as reprehensible for them to do so as it is for the banks," declared Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, in a statement issued tonight.

"There is no reason," he continued, "why people should not deposit money in the banks in the usual way and with absolute confidence, and there is no reason why business should not be conducted in a normal way."

The statement says the following rates have been charged by banks except in exceptional cases:

"In New York nearly all the loans to correspondents were made at the uniform rate of 6 per cent.

"In Chicago the prevailing rate charged to bank correspondents was 7 per cent, although on many loans a lower rate was charged.

"In St. Louis, while the maximum rate to bank correspondents was 8 per cent, the prevailing rates were 6 and 7 per cent. In a few cases loans were being made at lower rates.

"In Boston 7 3-10 per cent was charged in a few cases, although the prevailing rate was 6 per cent.

"In Philadelphia the national banks, as far as heard from, report no loans to bank correspondents in excess of 6 per cent."

Rates Too High.

The statement announced that no more lists of banks carrying excessive reserves will be made public for the present because there is no evidence that a more liberal disposition is being manifested.

"I have a long list of banks," it goes on, "which are holding excessive reserves and I shall not hesitate to publish it.

"In a number of places which have been brought to my notice, the interest rate has been put up arbitrarily by the concerted action of the banks. There is no justification for high interest rates. There is no real reason for tight money in this country."

BUTTE MAYOR AND SHERIFF REMOVED

Convicted on Charges of Neglect of Duty; Both Offices Vacant

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 6.—Sheriff Timothy Driscoll and Mayor Lewis J. Duncan were found guilty today of neglect of their duties in connection with the recent miners' riots, and removed from office by Judge Roy E. Ayers of the district court, after a trial which lasted more than two weeks.

The court refused to grant a stay of execution of 10 days while an appeal to the supreme court was perfected. Both offices are vacated pending an appeal.

Mayor Duncan is removed from office because of his failure to provide the city with proper protection last June when Miners' Union hall was dynamited by an opposing faction of miners and other lawless acts were committed virtually without interference by the sheriff or police.

The charge against Sheriff Driscoll was similar to that against the mayor. Driscoll admitted on testifying in his own behalf that his deputies failed to make forcible resistance to the rioters.

The city council will elect a successor to Mayor Duncan, who is a Socialist. Until the new mayor is named, Clarence A. Smith, Socialist president of the council, will be acting mayor.

WILSON'S POLITICAL BOARD OF STRATEGY CALLED INTO ACTION

Cabinet Members Answer the "S. O. S." Call All Over the Country

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson and his cabinet gathered today as a political board of strategy and laid plans for the coming congressional campaign. It was one of the few times since the Wilson administration came into office that little but politics has been considered at a cabinet meeting.

The session lasted more than two hours with the entire cabinet present. Itineraries of cabinet members' campaign tours were taken up and subjects to be discussed in campaign speeches were gone over.

The president expects congress to adjourn next week and immediately afterward the campaign will be actively begun. A letter to Majority Leader Underwood of the house expressing the president's gratification at the work accomplished, and indorsing Democratic members for reelection will be th opening gun.

Outline Campaign Fireworks.

The fact that the United States is at peace while Europe is at war; the currency, tariff and conservation bills and the handling by the president of the crisis following the outbreak of the European war, are to be the principal points to be dwelt on by the cabinet members.

The president is making efforts to harmonize all party differences before the November elections. In this connection, it was reported in official circles that Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, would follow the example of George Harvey and call at the White house to bring a final end to the incident which caused both men to withdraw their support of Mr. Wilson during the prenomination campaign in 1912. There has been a friendly exchange of letters between the president and Mr. Watterson, it was officially stated.

Governor Glynn Indorsed.

In New York several members of the cabinet, including Secretary McAdoo, have already indorsed Governor Glynn for reelection, and the president will formally take the same action. Mr. Harvey has offered his services in the New York campaign, and the president will consult him freely. There were many indications that the administration would make extraordinary efforts toward Democratic success in New York.

In Pennsylvania the president is doing everything possible for the election of Representative Palmer as senator, and may go to Pittsburg to speak at a Young Men's Christian association anniversary meeting at Mr. Palmer's invi

Fire in Smuggler Mine at Aspen Has Broken Out Again

ASPEN, Colo., Oct. 6.—Fire said to have been smoldering for 20 years in the Smuggler mine broke out again today and forced 150 miners out of the workings. Several were overcome, including Superintendent Duggald Matheson, who is also suffering with a broken leg. Matheson was overcome by the smoke and fell among mine timbers. His condition is reported serious. Charles Anderson, manager, has asked that a mine rescue car at Trinidad be sent to Aspen.

The Smuggler is a lead and silver mine but the fire is said to have been smoldering for years in a narrow vein of coal shale.

BATTLE OF AISNE GAINS MOMENTUM, WITH ALLIES PRESSING FURTHER NORTH

Fighting Becomes More Violent Each Day; Decisive Blow Yet to Be Struck

Bombardment of City of Antwerp Said to Be Imminent; French Laying Mines in Adriatic; Reports From East Show German Army Cut to Pieces by Russians

That the battle between the allies and the Germans to the north of the river Oise is growing more and more violent, is the only statement that has been permitted to winnow through the sieve of official secrecy concerning the conditions prevailing on that part of the long battle line in France upon which the eyes of the world are focused.

The report of the French war office makes no mention of whether progress is being made by either side in this zone where for days the armies have been battling desperately for supremacy.

The statement is made that the allies have gained a little ground on the northern heights of the Meuse. On the center of the battle line comparative calm prevails.

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP IMMINENT

No mention was made in the statement concerning the strong forces of German cavalry previously reported to be operating in the department of Nord, nor was anything said of the situation at Antwerp, against which the Germans are operating. A news agency dispatch said, however, that the military governor of Antwerp had reported to the burgomaster of Antwerp that a bombardment of the city was imminent.

Both Germany and Russia continue to report successes in East Prussia and Galicia, thus leaving the situation in these spheres of warfare in doubt.

FRENCH MINE THE ADRIATIC SEA

The French, as an offset to previous similar action on the part of the Austrians, have placed mines in the Adriatic in a zone which comprises "all Austrian water and the channels between the islands and the coast of Dalmatia."

A Berlin dispatch says:

"The increased Turkish navy, it is expected, soon will be sailing in the Black sea." No explanation of the statement was vouchsafed.

A news agency dispatch from Bordeaux announces that a number of important changes have been made in the German army commands.

DYSENTERY AMONG THE AUSTRIANS

An epidemic of dysentery has broken out among the Austrian troops in Bohemia and Moravia.

Great Britain has prohibited the exportation of raw wool.

Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, is said to be at Antwerp consulting with the Belgian chief of staff.

The Washington government is still without official advices concerning the landing of Japanese bluejackets on the island of Jaluit, in the Marshall archipelago, in the Pacific ocean.

WAR NOW HAS BEEN IN PROGRESS FOR 63 DAYS

LONDON, Oct. 6. The sixty-third day of the great European war saw a repetition of what the peoples of all the countries concerned have forced themselves to expect, perhaps for months to come, no decisive conflict on land or sea.

From Berlin to London came nothing in the way of claims to progress or reverses. From Petrograd came what has flowed without interruption for weeks: persistent claims of progress for Russian arms.

From Paris at the usual midafter noon hour was issued the usual communication, so-called, interpreting the situation along the battle line of the western theater of the war in the light of those opposing the German invasion. There was in the closely worded statement, cryptic to an extent, as always, hints of a greater diversity of operations than it ordinarily contains.

ALLIES STILL EXTENDING LINES TO THE NORTH

Above all stood out the presence of what was described as large masses of German cavalry near Lille, Berlin 160 miles from the Belgian frontier as the crow flies, and behind them German forces moving on a line between Tourcoing and Armentiers, the latter point right at the Belgian border.

At the same time, the official communication makes it plain that the allies have not been idle and have been extending their line on the left wing more and more widely. Now for blow on blow is being dealt around Arras, the scene of sanguinary fighting in recent. The same may be said of the region between the Somme and Oise, for it is noticeable that the allies have claimed nothing there to date except a seesaw advance and retirement. They do maintain that they have repulsed the enemy on the line against which the Germans made a violent attack.

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION AT ANTWERP

At Soissons where the allies recently cleared the Germans from the suburbs to the announcement they have pressed their advance by making slight advance. Some advance by the allies is also reported at Berry-au-Bac.

From Belgium comes nothing to indicate any change in the situation before Antwerp except a brief line touched at the bottom of the Paris statement asserting that the German attacks against the line of the river Ruppel and the river Nethe have failed.

The British press takes occasion to emphasize that while the battle of the Aisne holds first claim in the matter of sentimental interest, the gigantic operations of the Russian Austrian and

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP IMMINENT

Citizens Warned to Leave Danger Zone by Military Governor

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Antwerp gives the following communication issued at 10 o'clock last (Tuesday) night:

"The military governor has informed the burgomaster that a bombardment of Antwerp is imminent and people who wish to flee from the town are requested to leave.

"The bombardment will have no influence on the town's resistance, which will be pushed to the extreme limit."

The Exchange Telegraph company adds that the foregoing message has been passed by the British censor for publication.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—It is announced that the Great Eastern Railway company's steamship service between Tilbury, England, and Antwerp has been suspended.

Ship Without Flag, Without Country, Is Held at Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 5 A ship without a name, without a country, with a full cargo but without clearance papers, swung idly at her anchor in San Francisco bay today while her master and crew fretted to learn what flag they were under and when they could get away.

The vessel was the Alexandria, formerly of the Kosmos line. Recently she was reported sold to the Northern & Southern Navigation company, a newly organized corporation and the new owners applied to Washington for permission to register their purchase as the Sacramento, under the American flag.

That was 10 days ago, and, permission failing to come with the desired promptness, perhaps because of a strong protest from the British consul that the transfer was not in good faith, a second application was lodged with the collector of the port for leave to clear for Valparaiso, under the German flag and the old name.

The collector replied that he must be satisfied first that the crew was not made up of German reservists. It had been brought to his notice that the cargo consisted of provisions and coal and that the German cruiser Leipzig was last reported in Chilean waters, in which she had sunk the British merchantman Bankfields.

In the meanwhile, Rear Admiral Pond, for the preservation of neutrality, has placed an officer from the United States cruiser New Orleans aboard.

OSBORNE SUES ILLINOISANS FOR PAYMENT OF SHEEP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct 5—Former Gov. John H Osborne of Wyoming, now first assistant secretary of state at Washington, is the plaintiff in a suit called for trial in the circuit court here today for the recovery of $16,000 alleged to have been fraudulently secured in 1894 by John B Hunter and Cyrus Wheeland of this county through the purchase of several thousand sheep shipped from Osborne's ranch in Wyoming to Chicago.

ENGLAND IS BUYING SWEATERS IN THE U. S.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 5—Agents of the British government, it was reported here today, are securing bids from local knit goods manufacturers for 500,000 sweaters similar to those recently furnished the United States army. Yarn dealers have been asked to quote figures for the necessary yarns.

VOTED T. R. THE GREATEST

A Contest Was Held by the American Magazine

Some months ago the editors of the American Magazine asked their readers to vote on the question, "Who Is the Greatest Man in the United States?" When the votes were all in and counted the following results were announced:

Theodore Roosevelt first with nearly twice as many votes as anybody else.

Thomas A. Edison second with far and away the greatest number of votes given any strictly private citizen.

President Woodrow Wilson third with about one-third the number of votes cast for former President Roosevelt.

Mr. Ordinary Citizen fourth beaten by a few votes.

Booker Washington, Senator Robert M. La Follette and Luther Burbank were tied for seventh place and Andrew Carnegie, "Billy" Sunday and Judge Lindsey were tied for eighth place.

The American Magazine does not give its readers any idea of the number of votes cast. Some curious results were mentioned. For instance, the only clergyman who received a vote was Bishop Vincent of Chautauqua fame, the only actor John Bunny, the only lawyer Justice Hughes, the only soldier Hobson.

Prizes were awarded to the best letters explaining the writers' reasons for their choice of favorites. A supporter of Mr. Edison received first prize, the second prize was awarded to an admirer of Colonel Roosevelt and the third prize to the man or woman who cast his or her vote for Mr. Average Man.

HOW PEARL CLAMS ARE GATHERED

From the Strand Magazine

The rivers of Illinois are chief among the clam producing streams; the annual catch on the rivers of the state is enormous. Thousands of tons of shell are sold while the value of the pearls and slugs (seed pearls) taken from the Wabash alone is estimated at more than $1,000,000 a year.

The work of catching the clams is hard, dirty and unhealthy, but the lure of a valuable find calls many new fishermen to the field each year. Several "wholesale" methods of catching the clams have been experimented with. Steam shovels, sand pumps and other curious devices have been used but with poor success, owing to the habits of the clam and the formation of the river bottoms.

It has now been fairly proved that the most successful method of catching clams is the one-man outfit. A flat-bottomed rowboat or in some cases a craft with a small gasolene engine is used. A set of dragnets, consisting of two eight-foot iron bars, to which is attached a section of twine-netting filled with from three to five hundred four-point steel hooks is carried. The net-bars rest in brackets along the sides of the boat, and are cast into the water one at a time. The weight of the hooks and bar holds the net on the river-bed, while the force of the current drives the boat down stream. The clams are found feeding upon the mud deposits, lying back down, with shells open. As the net is dragged along the hooks enter the open shells, causing the clam to close, grasping the hook with a grip that holds until removed by force.

After a short drag has been made, and most of the hooks are filled, the net is hoisted into the boat, and the empty one thrown out, to be filled while the catch is removed from the first. This operation is continued until the boat is well loaded, when a return to camp is made.

SILLIMAN TELLS OFFICIALS ABOUT MEXICAN AFFAIRS

Confers With President and Bryan, but Refuse to Talk

WEST COAST IS STARVING

Rear Admiral Howard Reports on Conditions at Many Pacific Points

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson conferred for two hours today on the Mexican situation with Secretary Bryan and John R. Silliman, who made a special trip from Mexico at his own request to talk with the president. No inkling of what was discussed was given out at the White house after the conference. Secretary Bryan refused to make any comment.

Silliman, who is United States consul at Saltillo, Mexico, has been serving as President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico for some time. A few days ago he telegraphed the state department asking permission to come to Washington for a conference. He was told it was thought he should return to Mexico City. He was not satisfied, and it is said the visit was arranged directly with the president.

Refuses to Talk.

At his hotel after the conference Mr. Silliman refused to make any statement as to what his mission to Washington contemplated or what had been discussed at the White house conference.

The fact that he was accompanied from Mexico by Richard Cole, who gave out a statement at St. Louis saying that he was coming to Washington in behalf of General Carranza and predicted recognition of Carranza by the United States would come soon, started speculation along this line. Mr. Silliman said he had discussed the advisability of making some public statement with Secretary Bryan and it had been decided not to do so.

Acapulco Faces Starvation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Rear Admiral Howard, commanding the American naval forces off the Pacific coast of Mexico, reported to the navy department today that there was a shortage of food all along the west coast, and that the populace of Acapulco faced starvation.

Foodstuffs were not available at any price, he said. Transportation by land and rail is virtually at a standstill along the Pacific coast, and such as the revolutionary activities of the last three years have entailed the great masses of the people, meager crops have grown.

Admiral Howard says it is absolutely necessary that corn and rice be provided promptly for Acapulco.

Great Unrest in West.

Desultory firing about Acapulco is mentioned in the message, but this is understood by officials here to reflect the present issues under discussion between envoys of Villa and Carranza. They say there is turmoil throughout the entire state of Guerrero, of which Acapulco is the principal port, indicating the urgent need for early establishment of a strong government in Mexico.

It is understood that negotiations for the transfer of authority at Vera Cruz are making little headway, due to Carranza's refusal to comply with conditions laid down by the United States. The question of safe conduct out of the country for Mexican refugees who feel that their lives will be jeopardized under the incoming regime, is one of the many problems with which the officials here are dealing.

The next passenger steamer will leave Vera Cruz next Saturday, and assurances have been given that evacuation by the American forces will not take place before next Sunday. Beyond this no announcement has been made.

Double Taxation.

The most important economic question under discussion between Carranza and the American authorities

PROGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS HERE TODAY

The Progressive automobile campaigners will reach Colorado Springs this afternoon and will speak from the bandstand in North park at 4 o'clock. The addresses will be short, following out the idea of a whirlwind campaign, and immediately following the party will go to Fountain and then to Pueblo, where a meeting will be held tonight. From Pueblo the party will go down the Arkansas valley.

The speakers at North park will be Edward P. Costigan, candidate for governor; Merle D. Vincent, candidate for attorney general, and Mrs. Agnes Riddle, candidate for secretary of state.

The campaigners leave Denver this morning, speaking at the majority of towns en route. The novel method of campaigning and the message the Progressives have to deliver has made a remarkable impression and everywhere the speakers have been heard by big crowds.

BRITISH ARTILLERY IN ACTION IN BATTLE OF THE AISNE

JAPAN'S CAPTURE OF JOLUIT ISLAND ACT OF SELF-PROTECTION

American Officials Take Much Interest in Operation of Orientals

TOKIO, Oct. 7 (11:55 a. m., Wednesday).—The newspapers, commenting on the capture of the island of Jaluit by Japanese naval forces, declare that this action was necessary to safeguard Japan's territorial, commercial and maritime interests. They add that the seizure was justified also because of the seizure and destruction of shipping by the German cruiser Emden.

Washington View.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Declining, in the absence of all facts, to express any opinion as to whether the Japanese landing on the island of Jaluit, one of the Marshall group in the Pacific ocean, is in violation of the announcement by the Japanese foreign office at the beginning of the war, that Japanese participation would be confined to the far east, Secretary Bryan today was expecting the early arrival of some statement of the ultimate purpose of this act.

Already the secretary has interested himself in Japanese military operations against the German concession in Shan-Tung, probably animated by the appeal from the Chinese government against violation of Chinese integrity. The landing on the Marshall islands, however, has not yet been made the subject of representations to the state department, possibly for the reason that there is no one in a position corresponding to that of China. In Samoa, it is pointed out by officials, the United States has a very lively interest in any change of the sovereignty of the group because of the proximity of the German-owned islands to the American island of Tutuila.

On the whole, official opinion is that,

SPRINGS RAISES $5,000 FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY

Committee of 100 Completes Campaign and Makes Report; Subscription Lists Still Open at Banks

Nearly $5,000 will be added to the national treasury of the American Red Cross society by the Pikes Peak chapter as the result of a two weeks' campaign for funds for European war sufferers. In exact figures, $4,523.54 was the total amount of money collected, but, with promises of additional subscriptions and unredeemed pledges, the fund is expected to reach approximately $5,000.

With a meeting of the committee of 100 in the council chamber of the city hall yesterday afternoon, the active work of the society closed, and no further personal canvassing will be attempted. Contributions may still be made at the banks, and lists have been left open for that purpose. A number of people attended the meeting yesterday and heard the reports of committees and work of the society explained. Several lists are still outstanding and all those who are not sent in their reports are requested to make them to Mrs. Leonard E. Curtis, treasurer of the local division, as soon as possible. The funds will be sent at once to the national organization through the state treasurer, Joseph A. Thatcher, in Denver.

Resolutions were adopted by the members of the committee of 100 that a vote of thanks be sent to the banks, newspapers and others who had helped in the campaign.

LIQUORS BEAR HALF OF SPECIAL WAR TAX

Gasoline and Auto Sales Will Not Be Taxed in Proposed Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The caucus of senate Democrats on the war revenue bill failed to complete its labors tonight and recessed just before midnight to meet again tomorrow morning. Decision had been reached, however, that imposes the bulk of the $100,000,000 emergency revenue measure upon beer and whisky, which will yield nearly $50,000,000 annually under increased taxation.

The caucus also eliminated proposed taxes on gasoline and automobile sales and cut in two the proposed $2 per $1,000 tax on bank capital and surplus. Consideration of various proposed stamp taxes and emergency levies on perfumery, cosmetics and patent medicines was not reached tonight.

Increases on Beer.

First action of the caucus was to vote an increase in the proposed extra tax on beer from 50 cents to 75 cents a barrel, to make the total tax $1.75 a barrel, with a drawback of 5 per cent for purchase of revenue stamps in advance. The amendment, urged by Senator Williams of Mississippi, was carried by a large majority, after Senator Stone had made a vigorous speech against it. A special revenue tax on rectifiers of distilled spirits of 5 cents a gallon was also adopted. Together, the proposed taxes on liquors would yield an annual revenue of nearly $50,000,000.

Democrats of the finance committee had agreed to the house tax of $1.50 a barrel on beer, which would yield, at 50 cents over the normal tax, an added revenue of $32,500,000 annually. The further addition of 25 cents a barrel by the senate Democrats would yield another $16,000,000. With the 5 per cent discount for prompt payment figured, the least to be derived from beer would be approximately $46,000,000.

German Town in Canada to Raise $75,000 War Fund

BERLIN, Ont., Oct. 6.—More than $50,000 had been subscribed up to tonight in the local campaign to raise $75,000 for the Canadian patriotic fund. This was the second of a three-day crusade. The following cablegram was sent to Lord Kitchener:

"Berlin, Ont., a city of 18,000 population, of which 12,000 are German or of German descent, propose to raise on October 5, 6 and 7 £15,000 ($75,000) or more for the national patriotic fund."

Lord Kitchener replied as follows:

"My best wishes for success to your efforts."

BAY STATE PROGRESSIVES INDORSE PROHIBITION IN CONVENTION AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The Progressive party at its state convention today declared in favor of national prohibition. This stand was taken only after a sharp discussion, during which some of the speakers hinted that paid representatives of the liquor interests were on the convention floor.

Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole, Progressive candidate for governor in the last two years, opposed the idea in an address in which he questioned the moral right of the government to prohibit the use of alcoholic drinks in this country.

SEC. M'ADOO SCORES THE MONEY HOARDERS

No Reason for Financial Stringency in America, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—"There is evidence in some quarters that individuals and corporations are hoarding money; it is just as reprehensible for them to do so as it is for the banks," declared Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department, in a statement issued tonight.

"There is no reason," he continued, "why people should not deposit money in the banks in the usual way and with absolute confidence, and there is no reason why business should not be conducted in a normal way."

The statement says the following rates have been charged by banks except in exceptional cases:

"In New York nearly all the loans to correspondents were made at the uniform rate of 6 per cent.

"In Chicago the prevailing rate charged to bank correspondents was 7 per cent, although on many loans a lower rate was charged.

"In St. Louis, while the maximum rate to bank correspondents was 8 per cent, the prevailing rates were 6 and 7 per cent. In a few cases loans were being made at lower rates.

"In Boston 7.3-10 per cent was charged in a few cases, although the prevailing rate was 6 per cent.

"In Philadelphia the national banks, as far as heard from, report no loans to bank correspondents in excess of 6 per cent."

Reserves Too High.

The statement announced that no more lists of banks carrying excessive reserves will be made public for the present because there is no evidence that a more liberal disposition is being manifested.

"I have a long list of banks," it goes on, "which are holding excessive reserves and I shall not hesitate to publish it.

"In a number of places which have been brought to my notice, the interest rate has been put up arbitrarily by the concerted action of the banks. There is no justification for high interest rates. There is no real reason for tight money in this country."

BUTTE MAYOR AND SHERIFF REMOVED

Convicted on Charges of Neglect of Duty; Both Offices Vacant

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 6.—Sheriff Timothy Driscoll and Mayor Lewis J. Duncan were found guilty today of neglect of their duties in connection with the recent miners' riots, and removed from office by Judge Roy E. Ayers of the district court after a trial which lasted more than two weeks.

The court refused to grant a stay of execution of 10 days while an appeal to the supreme court was perfected. Both offices are vacated pending an appeal.

Mayor Duncan is removed from office because of his failure to provide the city with proper protection last June when Miners' Union hall was dynamited by an opposing faction of miners and other lawless acts were committed virtually without interference by the sheriff or police.

The charge against Sheriff Driscoll was similar to that against the mayor. Driscoll admitted in testifying in his own behalf that his deputies failed to make forcible resistance to the rioters.

The city council will elect a successor to Mayor Duncan, who is a Socialist. Until the new mayor is named, Clarence A. Smith, Socialist president of the council, will be acting mayor.

WILSON'S POLITICAL BOARD OF STRATEGY CALLED INTO ACTION

Cabinet Members Answer the "S. O. S." Call All Over the Country

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson and his cabinet gathered today as a political board of strategy and laid plans for the coming congressional campaign. It was one of the few times since the Wilson administration came into office that little but politics has been considered at a cabinet meeting.

The session lasted more than two hours with the entire cabinet present. Itineraries of cabinet members' campaign tours were taken up and subjects to be discussed in campaign speeches were gone over.

The president expects congress to adjourn next week and immediately afterward the campaign will be actively begun. A letter to Majority Leader Underwood of the house expressing the president's gratification at the work accomplished, and indorsing Democratic members for reelection will be the opening gun.

Outline Campaign Fireworks.

The fact that the United States is at peace while Europe is at war, the currency, tariff and conservation bills, and the handling by the president of the crisis following the outbreak of the European war, are to be the principal points to be dwelt on by the cabinet members.

The president is making efforts to harmonize all party differences before the November elections. In this connection, it was reported in official circles that Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, would follow the example of George Harvey and call at the White house to bring a final end to the incident which caused both men to withdraw their support of Mr. Wilson during the prenomination campaign in 1912. There has been a friendly exchange of letters between the president and Mr. Watterson, it was officially stated.

Governor Glynn Indorsed.

In New York several members of the cabinet, including Secretary McAdoo, have already indorsed Governor Glynn for reelection, and the president will formally take the same action. Mr. Harvey has offered his services in the New York campaign, and the president will consult him freely. There were many indications that the administration would make extraordinary efforts toward Democratic success in New York.

In Pennsylvania the president is doing everything possible for the election of Representative Palmer as senator and may go to Pittsburg to speak at a Young Men's Christian association anniversary meeting at Mr. Palmer's invitation.

Fire in Smuggler Mine at Aspen Has Broken Out Again

ASPEN, Colo., Oct. 6.—Fire said to have been smoldering for 20 years in the Smuggler mine broke out again today and forced 150 miners out of the workings. Several were overcome, including Superintendent Duggald Matheson, who is also suffering with a broken leg. Matheson was overcome by the smoke and fell, breaking the bone. His condition is reported serious. Charles Anderson, manager, has asked that a mine rescue car at Trinidad be sent to Aspen.

The Smuggler is a lead and silver mine but the fire is said to have been smoldering for years in a narrow vein of coal shale.

Fighting Becomes More Violent Each Day; Decisive Blow Yet to Be Struck

Bombardment of City of Antwerp Said to Be Imminent; French Laying Mines in Adriatic; Reports From East Show German Army Cut to Pieces by Russians

That the battle between the allies and the Germans to the north of the river Oise is growing more and more violent, is the only statement that has been permitted to winnow through the sieve of official secrecy concerning the conditions prevailing on that part of the long battle line in France upon which the eyes of the world are focused.

The report of the French war office makes no mention of whether progress is being made by either side in this zone where for days the armies have been battling desperately for supremacy.

The statement is made that the allies have gained a little ground on the northern heights of the Meuse. On the center of the battle line comparative calm prevails.

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP IMMINENT

No mention was made in the statement concerning the strong forces of German cavalry previously reported to be operating in the department of Nord, nor was anything said of the situation at Antwerp, against which the Germans are operating. A news agency dispatch said, however, that the military governor of Antwerp had reported to the burgomaster of Antwerp that a bombardment of the city was imminent.

Both Germany and Russia continue to report successes in East Prussia and Galicia, thus leaving the situation in these spheres of warfare in doubt.

FRENCH MINE THE ADRIATIC SEA

The French, as an offset to previous similar action on the part of the Austrians, have placed mines in the Adriatic in a zone which comprises "all Austrian water and the channels between the islands and the coast of Dalmatia."

A Berlin dispatch says:

"The increased Turkish navy, it is expected, soon will be sailing in the Black sea." No explanation of the statement was vouchsafed.

A news agency dispatch from Bordeaux announces that a number of important changes have been made in the German army commands.

DYSENTERY AMONG THE AUSTRIANS

An epidemic of dysentery has broken out among the Austrian troops in Bohemia and Moravia.

Great Britain has prohibited the exportation of raw wool.

Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, is said to be at Antwerp consulting with the Belgian chief of staff.

The Washington government is still without official advices concerning the landing of Japanese bluejackets on the island of Jaluit, in the Marshall archipelago, in the Pacific ocean.

WAR NOW HAS BEEN IN PROGRESS FOR 63 DAYS

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The sixty-third day of the great European war saw a repetition of what the peoples of all the countries concerned have forced themselves to expect, perhaps for months to come, no decisive conflict on land or sea.

From Berlin to London came nothing in the way of claims to progress or reverses. From Petrograd came what has flowed without interruption for weeks, persistent claims of progress for Russian arms.

From Paris at the usual midafternoon hour was issued the usual communication, so-called, interpreting the situation along the battle line of the western theater of the war in the light of those opposing the German invasion. There was in the closely worded statement, cryptic to an extent, as always, hints of a greater diversity of operations than it ordinarily contains.

ALLIES STILL EXTENDING LINES TO THE NORTH

Above all stood out the presence of what was described as large masses of German cavalry near Lille, hardly 10 miles from the Belgian frontier as the crow flies, and behind them German forces moving on a line between Tourcoing and Armentieres, the latter point right at the Belgian border.

At the same time the official communication makes it plain that the allies have not been idle and have been extending their line on the left wing more and more widely. [illegible] evidently is being dealt around Arras, the scene of sanguinary fighting recently. The same may be said of the region between [illegible] for it is noticeable that the allies have claimed nothing there to date except a see-saw advance and retirement. They do maintain that they have repulsed the [illegible] which the Germans made a [illegible] attack.

NO CHANGE IN THE SITUATION AT ANTWERP

At Soissons, where the allies recently cleared the [illegible] to the announcement, they have pressed the [illegible] advance. Some advance by the allies [illegible]

From Belgium comes nothing to indicate any change in the situation before Antwerp except a brief line [illegible] the bottom of the Paris statement asserting that the German attacks along the line of the river Rupel and the river Nethe have failed.

The British press takes occasion to emphasize that while the battle of the Aisne holds first claim in the matter of sentimental interest, the gigantic operations of the Russian, Austrian and

BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP IMMINENT

Citizens Warned to Leave Danger Zone by Military Governor

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Antwerp gives the following communication issued at 10 o'clock last (Tuesday) night:

"The military governor has informed the burgomaster that a bombardment of Antwerp is imminent and people who wish to flee from the town are requested to leave.

"The bombardment will have no influence on the town's resistance, which will be pushed to the extreme limit."

The Exchange Telegraph company adds that the foregoing message has been passed by the British censor for publication.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—It is announced that the Great Eastern Railway company's steamship service between Tilbury, England and Antwerp has been suspended.

Ship Without Flag, Without Country, Is Held at Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—A ship without a name, without a country, with a full cargo, but without clearance papers, swung idly at her anchor in San Francisco bay today while her master and crew fretted to learn what flag they were under and when they could get away.

The vessel was the Alexandria, formerly of the Kosmos line. Recently she was reported sold to the Northern & Southern Navigation company, a newly organized corporation, and the new owners applied to Washington for permission to register their purchase as the Sacramento, under the American flag.

That was 10 days ago, and, permission failing to come with the desired promptness, perhaps because of a strong protest from the British consul that the transfer was not in good faith, a second application was lodged with the collector of the port for leave to clear for Valparaiso, under the German flag and the old name.

The collector replied that he must be satisfied first that the crew was not made up of German reservists. It had been brought to his notice that the cargo consisted of provisions and coal and that the German cruiser Leipzig was last reported in Chilean waters, in which she had sunk the British merchantman Bankfields.

In the meanwhile, Rear Admiral Fond, for the preservation of neutrality, has placed an officer from the United States cruiser New Orleans aboard.

OSBORNE SUES ILLINOISANS FOR PAYMENT OF SHEEP

Hunter and Cyrus Wheeland of this county through the purchase of several thousand sheep shipped from Osborne's ranch in Wyoming to Chicago.

ENGLAND IS BUYING SWEATERS IN THE U. S.

VOTED T. R. THE GREATEST

A Contest Was Held by the American Magazine

Some months ago the editors of the American Magazine asked their readers to vote on the question, "Who Is the Greatest Man in the United States?" When the votes were all in and counted the following results were announced.

Theodore Roosevelt, first, with nearly twice as many votes as anybody else.

Thomas A. Edison, second, with far and away the greatest number of votes given any strictly private citizen.

President Woodrow Wilson, third, with about one-third the number of votes cast for former President Roosevelt.

Mr. Ordinary Citizen, fourth, beaten by a few votes.

Henry Ford, sixth, the great motor car manufacturer, received more votes than any other financier.

Booker Washington, Senator Robert M. La Follette and Luther Burbank were tied for seventh place, and Andrew Carnegie, "Billy" Sunday and Judge Lindsey were tied for eighth place.

The American Magazine does not give its readers any idea of the number of votes cast. Some curious results were mentioned. For instance, the only clergyman who received a vote was Bishop Vincent of chautauqua fame; the only actor, John Bunny; the only lawyer, Justice Hughes, the only "soldier," Hobson.

Prizes were awarded to the best letters explaining the writers' reasons for their choice of favorites. A supporter of Mr. Edison received first prize, the second prize was awarded to an admirer of Colonel Roosevelt and the third prize to the man or woman who cast his or her vote for Mr. Average Man.

HOW PEARL CLAMS ARE GATHERED

From the Strand Magazine.

The rivers of Illinois are chief among the clam-producing streams; the annual catch on the rivers of the state is enormous. Thousands of tons of shell are sold, while the value of the pearls and "slugs" (seed pearls) taken from the Wabash alone is estimated at more than $1,000,000 a year.

The work of catching the clams is hard, dirty and unhealthy; but the lure of a valuable finds calls many new fishermen to the field each year. Several "wholesale" methods of catching the clams have been experimented with. Steam shovels, sand pumps and other curious devices have been used, but with poor success, owing to the habits of the clam and the formation of the river bottoms.

It has now been fairly proved that the most successful method of catching clams is the "one-man outfit." A flat-bottomed rowboat, or in some cases a craft with a small gasolene engine, is used. A set of dragnets, consisting of two eight-foot iron bars, to which is attached a section of twine-netting filled with from three to five hundred four-point steel hooks, is carried. The net-bars rest in brackets along the sides of the boat, and are cast into the water one at a time. The weight of the hooks and bar holds the net on the river-bed, while the force of the current drives the boat down stream. The clams are found feeding upon the mud deposits, lying back down, with shells open. As the net is dragged along the hooks enter the open shells, causing the clam to close, grasping the hook with a grip that holds until removed by force.

After a short drag has been made, and most of the hooks are filled, the net is hoisted into the boat, and the empty one thrown out, to be filled while the catch is removed from the first. This operation is continued until the boat is well loaded, when a return to camp is made.

German armies in the east may first bring the solution of the war.

GERMAN ARMY IN EAST PRUSSIA CUT TO PIECES

Petrograd official statements continue to repeat in a general way what has been known here as a fact for days that the German army along the East Prussian frontier has been more or less routed and cut to pieces, but as this is only a small portion of the front, it is exceedingly hard to get anything like a clear-cut perspective of the conflict.

What purports to be an official dispatch from Vienna insists in broad terms that the condition of the German and Austrian armies both in Poland and Galicia is favorable, and that in attempting to breast the Carpathians at Uzzok pass the Russians have been beaten.

GENERAL RENNENKAMPF GETS REVENGE ON ENEMY

"Breasting the Carpathians and pouring on to the plains of Hungary" by the Muscovites has been so often referred to that it is becoming trite, and the fact remains that, generally speaking, aside from the defeat of Rennenkampf's army in the early stages of the war in Poland, his revenge by a crushing return and a steady advance of the Russians through Galicia, there has been nothing from the east to stand out in the nature of a clearly defined conflict like the battle of the Aisne.

Today's Petrograd official statement deals entirely with the German stand on the East Prussian frontier, making no mention of the situation either in Galicia or Hungary. The much-heralded battle of Cracow, which it seems all the correspondence anticipated, has yet to occur.

From Budapest—not often heard from as a source of war news—came a dispatch saying that, though no battles in Hungary had yet been decisive, the invaders were being repulsed.

GENERAL SHAKEUP IN KAISER'S STAFF REPORTED

Whether it can be accepted as true or not, a Bordeaux special dispatch reports a general shakeup in the German army command, following, but not necessarily, the result of the reported removal of General von Moltke as chief of the general staff. The most important change is the shifting of General von Hindenburg from East Prussia to assume command at Cracow. He is succeeded in the field, where he scored so brilliantly over the Russians, by General Curt von Morgen.

The British press is still indulging in the pastime of guessing at the German emperor's whereabouts. The latest report is that he is at Cologne under the protection of the powerful fortresses.

President Poincare's visit to the front is confirmed through a telegram he sent to King George saying that he had visited Field Marshal French at British headquarters.

To the long series of national denials this war has brought, is a statement issued in behalf of the British government tonight, denying the German contention that Great Britain had stored ammunition at Maubeuge prior to the outbreak of the war, thus indicating an intention to violate Belgian neutrality.

European War Bulletins

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The French official announcement issued tonight says that a violent battle continues on the left wing north of the Oise.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—The French government will return to Paris Wednesday or Thursday, according to the Paris correspondent of the Express, who makes this announcement on high authority. The visit of President Poincare to army headquarters is considered a good omen.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A report received here from Pekin says the British are continuing their vigorous attack on the German position at Kiao-Chow. The German troops, it is said, have withdrawn on Tsing-Tau itself, the forts of which are kept busy day and night. It is added that the British and Japanese troops are preparing for a decisive advance.

ROME, Oct. 6.—A dispatch received here from Munich says that Prince Francis, fourth son of the king of Bavaria, was wounded in the left thigh during a battle. He was operated on in a hospital and blood poisoning was feared for a time, but he now is out of danger.

ROME, Oct. 6.—Prince William of Wied, former ruler of Albania, according to advices received here from Berlin, in an address to his company of Uhlans said he hoped through their bravery to reconquer on the battlefield the crown of Albania.

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent in France says:

"For nearly three weeks the casualties among the British troops have been insignificant. The big German shells do comparatively little damage. The German infantry attacks ceased long ago."

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—A dispatch to the Times from Ostend, dated Monday, says:

"A very important movement of German troops in southern Belgium was reported this afternoon. A column 20,000 strong marched through Templeuve, five miles north of Tournay, in the direction of the French frontier to the west. All the troopers were young men."

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from Berlin by way of Amsterdam says:

"By special decree issued at imperial headquarters the sessions of the Prussian diet, which have been in adjournment since June 15, will be reopened October 22."

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The official press bureau tonight issued a statement declaring "absolutely untrue" the allegations made by Professor Harnack and other prominent Germans that Great Britain had stored quantities of ammunition at the French fortress of Maubeuge before the outbreak of the war. The Germans claimed this was evidence England intended to violate the neutrality of Belgium.

GERMAN DEFEATS ARE DUE TO POOR STRATEGY, SAYS CORRESPONDENT

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—The correspondent of the Post in Petrograd, in a story contrasting Russian and German strategy to the disadvantage of the latter, says:

"Instead of following sound military principles of seeking out the enemy's strength, and endeavoring to smash it, the Germans seems to follow the lines of least resistance. Whether this is the result of basing war upon the experiences of the parade ground and maneuvers, it is difficult to say, but certainly the German army is learning its business only now.

"Both the great German defeats in Galicia and in western Russia exemplify the same defect in tactics of following the line of least resistance. In both cases the Russians caught them in precisely the same trap. In the latter case the Russians left a gap of 20 miles open like a mouse trap door and the Germans marched gaily in. They found no opposition until they met an unpleasant surprise at the fantastic bends of the river Niemen and, while trying to force the Niemen, the jaws of the trap closed upon them."

WAR WILL DRAG THROUGH WINTER, SAYS WRITER IN RUSSIAN NEWSPAPER

PETROGRAD, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—The Bourse Gazette learns that owing to favorable news from the seat of war, subscriptions will be invited for an internal loan of 500,000,000 rubles ($250,000,000), at 5 per cent.

A writer in the Army Gazette estimates that the war with Germany will drag on for a year, because the winter campaign cannot have an intensive character. The fighting will, however, break out again in the spring with its previous fury, he says.

ROME, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—A dispatch received here from Budapest says Russians invading Hungary, with the intention of effecting a junction with the Servians, are advancing in two columns. One column is making an assault on Hosszumezo-Dihenolje (in northwest Hungary, 66 miles southeast of Olmutz), and the other is rapidly descending the valley of the Nagyar against Huszt (province of Marmaros, 90 miles northeast of Debreczen).

The Servians are also reported to have begun a northeast advance from Semlin.

GERMANY IS SENDING ARMS TO CONSTANTINOPLE

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(Wednesday).—An Athens dispatch published in the Times says:

"According to trustworthy advices from Constantinople, four huge howitzers of the 42 centimeter model have arrived from Germany, and have been sent through the Dardanelles on German merchantmen, together with large quantities of ammunition and war material."

GAZETTE. 60 CENTS A MONTH

LEACH CROSS OUTBOXES WALTER MOHR OF BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Leach Cross of New York outfought Walter Mohr of Brooklyn in a 10-round contest in Brooklyn tonight. Cross weighed 135 pounds, two and a half pounds more than his opponent.

ALBANIANS DESTROYING CHRISTIAN VILLAGES

PARIS, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—An Athens dispatch to the Havas agency says refugees from Premitri in Epirus, European Turkey, report that Albanians are pillaging and burning Christian villages in the district of Berat, 50 miles northeast of Avlona.

GERMAN CONSUL AT FRISCO PROTESTS AT GUARD ON STEAMER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Baron E. H. von Schack, German consul general in San Francisco, presented a formal protest today to Rear Admiral C. F. Pond, supervisor of the Twelfth naval district, against the armed guard placed upon the former Kosmos liner Alexandria, which now is anchored in the stream laden with coal to prevent her leaving port.

The Alexandria recently was purchased by a coterie of shipping men who asked that the vessel be shifted from German to American registry. The change has not been authorized. No action was taken today regarding the protest of the German consul.

BRITISH SUFFER IN AUSTRIAN PRISONS

VENICE, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—Reports from various parts of Austria-Hungary indicate that British prisoners of war have been subjected in many instances to harsh treatment. They have been insufficiently fed and badly housed amid insanitary conditions.

Many prisoners have been transferred to various points in the interior. At first they were made comfortable and those with money were permitted to buy all the extra comforts they could, but after all prisoners were treated alike.

A batch of these prisoners, engaged for a time in building torpedo boats for the Austrian navy at the Monfalcone dockyards, near Trieste, recently have been transferred to a fortress in Hungary.

NINE AUSTRIANS CAUGHT BY CANADIAN OFFICIALS

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 6.—Nine Austrians were captured today when about to cross the United States boundary near Huntingdon, B. C. They will be detained as prisoners of war. The immigration authorities discovered an "underground railway" on the border and set a watch, with the result that they caught three parties of three men attempting to evade the immigration officers.

STUDENTS PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO RIOTING

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 6.—Pleas of not guilty were entered in court today by four University of Wisconsin students and four town boys charged with rioting last night on Capitol square, where 2,000 students made a wild attack on the police station where three of their fellows were incarcerated.

Mayor Kayser says if the police department is unable to check such riots, other forces more powerful, meaning the militia, can be invoked to protect the peace.

GERMANS DENY SACKING OF PRES. PIONCARE'S HOME

LONDON, October 6.—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company says that dispatches from Berlin deny indignantly the reported destruction by German troops of the property of M. Poincare, president of France, at Ribecourt. They declare this property was the center of a heavy battle near Verdun and that it was bombarded by French artillery.

The charges of the Countess De Bayes that the German crown prince looted her chateau also are ridiculed. It is declared that the crown prince never was in this mansion.

CARRIER PIGEON PHOTOGRAPHS

Jimmy Hare's London Letter in Leslie's.

Unless you carry a camera you have little trouble in going about the United Kingdom. But the police surely have their suspicions about photography. Recently some genius had an idea of fitting up a microscopic camera, with a long roll of film operated by a clock work mechanism to make exposures at regular intervals. The whole thing was said to be small enough to be fastened to a carrier pigeon without making it impossible for the bird to fly. The idea is to hitch one of these wonderful machines on to the pigeon and have him make a series of pictures of the country over which he flies. Here was a way that German spies could wreck Great Britain, but the police foiled them. They promptly forbade Germans and Austrians owning carrier pigeons at all, and they also set a lot of men to shoot pigeons that wore a suspicious look. So far I haven't heard of any being killed with the goods on, but a [illegible] is enough and I am not going to fly about with a camera. In spite of occasional absurdities, however, the British are reasonably considerate of foreigners; and there has been no great hostility shown to Germans. Some spies have been arrested, and I have no doubt ever [illegible] though this is a subject that is not much discussed. Certainly England must have swarmed with secret representatives of the enemy during the early days of the war.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 6.—Two youths, said to be the robbers who today held up officials of the Farmers & Merchants National bank at Tupelo, Okla., and escaped with $2,437, were captured late tonight by a posse near Tupelo. They refused to give their names. It is stated that more than $2,000 was found hidden in their clothing.

VALLEY OF AISNE IS LIKE VAST MILITARY RABBIT BURROW

LONDON, Oct. 7 (Wednesday).—The correspondent of the Times at Epernay, France, [illegible] of Sunday, says:

"The battle of the Aisne has now entered upon [illegible] less some [illegible] and though there appears no reason why the titanic struggle should not continue for a long time.

"Now that the perfection of modern trenches is reached [illegible] the allies it has become a struggle in which one is pitted against an invisible foe who is never seen until he strikes suddenly from [illegible]. The countryside [illegible] is a vast military rabbit burrow.

"Both sides are resolutely determined not to [illegible]. The Germans are continually delivering attacks and counter attacks, but the allies are not making any definite attempt to advance in this region. They are content for the time being with beating back all German attacks and are not trying to occupy the enemy's trenches.

"The forces of the Germans are worn by hard campaigning and frequent attacks while the allies' troops are fresh because they are frequently rested and relieved. One feature of the allies' strategy policy is that the casualties on the allies' side have been very slight [illegible].

"Everything possible is being done to relieve the men from the strain of waiting. Tobacco and newspapers are provided and mail is delivered regularly. The strain of waiting has been especially severe on the African troops.

"One of the most useful articles of the German war equipment is a sky-rocket which gives a powerful illumination lasting 10 seconds above the ranks of the enemy, enabling the German artillery officers to obtain an accurate range of the trenches."

DRY AND WET BATTLE RAGES OVER NATION

Five States at Stake and Millions Being Spent by Both Sides

Henry M. Hyde in the Chicago Tribune.

Fanaticism against personal liberty; efficiency and morality against booze and vice.

Called by whatever name, there is no more interesting and remarkable spectacle than the tremendous and nation-wide fight now going on between the advocates and opponents of the use of alcohol as a beverage.

How many people know that ten states of the Union have already voted in favor of statewide prohibition? They are Maine, West Virginia, North Carolina, Kansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Oklahoma, Mississippi, North Dakota and Virginia, the latter swinging into the prohibition column only last month.

In the campaign which comes to an end next month it is estimated that the prohibition forces are spending at least $2,500,000 in their propaganda. Presumably the liquor interests will spend as much.

Big Fight in Five States.

The big fight is being made in the states of California, Colorado, Ohio, Oregon and Washington, in each of which the issue is statewide prohibition. In almost every state in the Union the fight will be on in many counties.

In Illinois, for instance, [illegible] of the 102 counties in the state already are without saloons. In [illegible] of the remaining counties saloons are permitted in only a single township out of a total of 1,430 townships in the state but 215 are wet.

At the coming election 16 Illinois counties will vote on the saloon question. Eight of them are already dry, eight are now wet.

Moose Adopt Dry Planks.

As indicating the growing recognition of the importance of the subject as a political question, the foes of the saloon point out that the state conventions of the Progressive party in Ohio, Indiana, Maine, Idaho, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri declared in favor of statewide prohibition, and that Theodore Roosevelt, speaking at Columbus, denounced the liquor traffic and urged the voters to stand in favor of the prohibition amendment.

In Idaho the state conventions of the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties all declared in favor of state prohibition.

The antisaloon forces find fresh comfort in the fact that nine out of 12 Kentucky counties which [illegible] voted on the saloon question went dry [illegible]. There are now only 11 wet counties left [illegible] in Kentucky.

New York Is Wet Stronghold.

"There are more saloons in the city of New York," say the prohibition leaders, "than in all the states south of the Ohio river."

The liquor interests answer with the statement that saloons have been largely voted out in the south simply because of the large negro population which has not yet learned the virtue of self control. They call attention also to the fact that the state of [illegible], having tried the experiment of prohibition, [illegible]

[illegible] of the area of the United States has been made prohibition territory.

Millions Live in Dry Zone.

Saloons are most frequent and the liquor interests strongest in large cities, and yet, in spite of that fact, about 50,000,000 of the population of the United States now live in prohibition districts.

Whatever the outcome of the coming election, the prohibition leaders intend to center their work on congress at the December session, with the idea of securing the passage and submission to the states of a prohibition amendment to the constitution.

It is also likely that congress will be strongly urged to set an example to the rest of the country by passing a law which shall make Washington and the District of Columbia a prohibition district.

[N]ACO, Ariz., Oct. 6.—Governor Maytorena, the Villa commander, today made his second attempt to induce Gen. Benjamin Hill and his Carranza forces entrenched in Mexican Naco to agree to an armistice pending the outcome of the Villa-Carranza parley at Aguascalientes.

VIGOROUS ASSAULTS WAGED IN WEST

German Cavalry Makes Reappearance, Showing Horses Are Not Ill

ON THE BATTLE FRONT (via Paris) Oct 6—German cavalry made its reappearance on the scene of action in great force today thus disproving reports that all of its horses had been rendered useless owing to an epidemic of the glanders

The allies extended front has met with vigorous counter-attacks on the part of the Germans, who seem to have weakened their position on the center of the battle line in order to throw heavy masses of men against the right and left wings. The allies, although forced back short distances at some points on their left, have been generally able to hold their own

The eastern wing also was the scene of severe combats today, but there the battle was between infantry and artillery, and the allies were able to push forward

In the center, where the infantry had been deeply intrenched since the commencement of the battle, the French and English commanders took the opportunity to relieve many regiments which had been on the advanced firing line. Two brigades of British troops, chiefly Highlanders had not had relief for 18 days. They had burrowed so well that their casualties were unimportant but the men were thoroughly exhausted from continued watchfulness and the incessant boom of the guns

It is currently reported at the front that the Germans took 500 civilians with them when they departed from Roye

JAPAN'S CAPTURE OF JOLUIT ISLAND ACT OF SELF-PROTECTION

while the United States is interested as would be any maritime power since the group lies on the trade route around Cape Horn, and through the Straits of Magellan to the orient, the issue really is of much greater concern to Great Britain. Because of the reluctance of the British-Australian colonies to have the Japanese approach their continent, the British government itself is understood to have a very explicit understanding with her ally Japan, that the British alone are free to exploit the important German insular possessions in Micronesia and in New Guinea

It is assumed that what has been done on the island of Jaluit is in accordance with this understanding and a more or less official statement is expected that the Marshall islands after the extirpation of the German naval base there, will either be vacated by the Japanese or turned over to the British, their future to be decided in the conferences which must terminate the present war.

Merely Temporary Act.

Officials of the British embassy were positive today in their assurances that Japan's act would in no way develop into a violation of the memorandum limiting the scope of Japanese military activity. The pledge outlining the extent of Japanese aggression was reiterated and declared to be a proof that the seizing of Jaluit was merely a temporary act

Late today after receiving an official cablegram from Tokio confirming the destruction of the German base at Jaluit the Japanese embassy issued the following statement

"In this connection it may be recalled that the German men-of-war have been making appearances in the Pacific and the South seas and have been disturbing the shipping routes ever since the outbreak of the present war and that this fact at last compelled the allied fleets of Japan and Great Britain to decide upon expeditionary measures to keep the routes clear as was recently reported in the press. In the light of this fact, it may be safely concluded that the action taken by a portion of the Japanese squadron above referred to is nothing but a step for the fulfillment of the expeditionary mission"

CANADA IS SENDING 22,000 MORE MEN TO EUROPEAN FRONT

Dominion Rallying to Support of Mother Country in Great War

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct 6—Canada will raise immediately and send to the front a second expeditionary force of 20,000 men with a first reinforcement of 10 per cent, making 22,000 in all. This decision was reached at today's cabinet council. The second contingent will bring the total of Canada's force at the front up to more than 50,000 men

Sir Robert Borden, Canadian premier, made public tonight the action taken by the council. In a statement regarding the situation he said.

"The government proposes forthwith to organize and train a second expeditionary force of 20,000 men with first reinforcement of 10 per cent, making 22,000 in all. This force will be organized as expeditiously as possible and the arrangements for providing the necessary arms, ammunition and equipment are already in progress. The government is also making preparations to organize and train the necessary further reinforcements for the first and second expeditionary forces"

Disposition of Forces.

As to the disposition of the forces already sent, the prime minister said:

"According to the report of the chief embarkation officer, the total force embarked at Quebec amounted to nearly 33,000 men besides 7,000 horses and a proper complement of guns and vehicles with full equipment for men and horses. The transportation of this force required no less than 31 large steamships. It is probable that upon arrival in England the force will be organized as follows:

'Field troops, including a first reinforcement of 10 per cent, 26,400; line of communication troops, 2,100; total force at the front, 28,500

This will leave about 4,500 men for training in Great Britain who will constitute a regiment of nearly 20 per cent for the men at the front"

Knights of Pythias at 'Peace' Meeting

More than 100 members of the Knights of Pythias attended the peace service exercises in K P hall last night in accordance with the proclamation of the supreme lodge that October 6, the anniversary of the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," be fittingly observed

F. F Schreiber grand chancellor of the state of Colorado, the Rev C R Garver, E K Robinett and the Rev Samuel Garvin were the principal speakers. S H Kinsley presided as toastmaster at a banquet served after the exercises

Dr Garvin's address was declared by Pythians to be one of the finest ever given at a gathering of the order. He told the story of the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and then analyzed the causes and political conditions in Europe that have brought on the present war

Quoting a line from "The Star-Spangled Banner," "Our cause is just and triumph we must" he declared that no nation has gone into the European struggle with clean hands. By way of contrast he said that every war in which America has been engaged was a war of righteousness and that it was justified. "There is no stain on the Star-Spangled Banner" he said. Dr Garvin believes that world-wide peace will follow the present war in Europe

The Spangenberg Violin quintet played "America," "The Star-Spangled Banner," Mozart's "Turkish March" and Bohm's "La Zingana" and a number of other selections. The music was one of the features of the evening

'See Colorado First' Is Campaign Slogan

Chamber of Commerce Urges Local Tours

"See Colorado first" is to be the slogan of the Chamber of Commerce during the fall months. Letters have been sent to automobile owners in all parts of the state calling attention to the delights of a vacation at this time of the year and many favorable replies have been received.

The campaign is being conducted under the auspices of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce and every effort will be made to get the people in Colorado to tour in their own country. The idea is an outgrowth of the "See America first" slogan and probably will be taken up by commercial and business organizations throughout Colorado. A letter has been sent to the state chamber of commerce in Denver and President T. B. Stern probably will take up the issue. A folder containing information as to the many points of interest in the Pikes Peak region also has been forwarded to many residents of the state.

Urges Local Excursions

Hundreds of people in Colorado have never toured in their own land," said Secretary Henderson yesterday, "and there are many who are planning to take their vacations in these splendid fall months.

It is the plan of the committee to get as many people as possible to travel in this region and see the improvements that have been made in roads, organizations and cities and also to visit the points of scenic interest. The circular letter follows:

These clear crisp days which make a man glad to be alive are just right for that vacation you have been planning. The rush of the summer's work is over and the great out of doors is calling. The mountains dressed in all the beautiful tints of a Colorado autumn never were more glorious.

So why not get the car in shape and start out an expedition "Seeing Colorado." Thousands of people have driven their cars hundreds of miles this summer to enjoy the wonderful mountain scenery that you have almost in your back yard.

Real Road Has Been Built

If you haven't been over the roads of Colorado Springs since the recent improvements have been made, you'll be surprised to find how good it is most of the day. The state highway commission and the Douglas county commissioners have been working hard to get the Castle Rock road in shape and you will want to see for yourself what they have done in building a real road between Denver and Colorado Springs.

The roads are good. The damage done by the summer storms has been repaired and the roads are just right for comfortable travel. You are of course familiar with the things to see in the Pikes Peak region but the folder we are sending under separate cover may give you some new suggestions.

The Chamber of Commerce publishes a 70-page log book of the roads radiating from Colorado Springs and you can have a copy for the asking. Just fill out the enclosed postcard and we will be glad also to send you special reports on any road or roads in which you may be interested.

When you come to Colorado Springs, you are invited to make your headquarters at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce—where the Automobile club also has its offices on the fourth floor in the Burns building. Whatever we can do to make your stay here pleasant will be done.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest Stomach Relief

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

The city will have many Pape's Diapepsin cranks as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes. —Adv.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN FAVOR OF NEW MINING LAW

Measure Now Before Congress Waives Requirement of Assessment Work on Claims. West Interested

Resolutions urging senators and representatives from Colorado to vote in favor of the bill for the relief of mining locators, now pending in congress, have been adopted by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The bill waives the requirement of assessment work on claims. A copy of the resolutions was forwarded to each party interested. This action was taken because of the assessment on account of the heavy burdens that have been placed on mining districts by the European war. Similar action has been taken by commercial and business organizations in the west.

Replies from Congressman H. H. Seldomridge and Senator Charles S. Thomas stating that they would do all in their power to secure the enactment of the bill have been received.

To Ask Council to Pass Measure Covering Buildings Equipped With Automatic Fire Extinguishers

A new ordinance requiring the installation of water meters in all buildings having a special automatic fire sprinkling equipment and providing for a flat rate for the same will be introduced at the council meeting today by Mayor McKesson, head of the water department. Special systems for fire service have been installed during the last few years by several business firms here.

At the present time water may be used from the fire sprinkling system and no charge made for it. Mayor McKesson believes the new ordinance will prevent both leakage and waste of water from automatic systems. The ordinance will fix a minimum rate of $1 a month for maintenance. There will be no charge for water used in case of fire.

FARM-TO-TABLE SERVICE WILL CUT OUT MIDDLE MAN

New Parcel Post System Gives Farmers Opportunity to Send Products Direct to Homes

Farmers in the vicinity of Colorado Springs will be able to maintain a direct service with their customers without the aid of the middle man as the result of the official announcement of the establishment of the "farm-to-the-table" service of the parcel post which was received here yesterday. It tells of the success of the system in other cities where it was established and gives instructions as to what is to be done by the local office to further the success of the plan.

The postoffice officials will get in touch with the farmers who have produce to sell and will obtain a list of the products they can furnish during the different seasons. This list will be posted in conspicuous places. A number of letters have been received by the postmaster from farmers and truck gardeners who are interested in establishing a list of customers in Colorado Springs. Now that the official order has been received it is expected that this list will be greatly increased.

PROGRESSIVE MEETING TODAY

TODAY the Progressive candidates on the state ticket who are making an automobile tour of the state will arrive in Colorado Springs on their way to the Arkansas Valley. At 4 o'clock this afternoon a meeting will be held in North Park and speeches made by Mr Costigan, Mr Vincent, Mrs. Riddle and others.

Wherever the Progressive candidates have spoken they have been greeted by large audiences. In every county there is abundant evidence of a desire on the part of the people to familiarize themselves with the issues of the campaign and to understand the Progressive plan. The people who for years have turned from the Republican to the Democratic party and back again in the vain hope of securing better government are ready to avail themselves of the better opportunity offered by the newer party. They know that the Democratic rule of the past six years has only plunged Colorado more heavily in debt, and finally into a condition of helplessness from which it was rescued by Federal intervention. They know, too, that it would avail nothing to turn to the Republican party for relief, for in that direction lies a record of failure even worse, if such a thing is possible.

This state of mind helps to explain the present popular interest in the campaign being made by the candidates who are to speak at today's meeting. Join the crowd in North Park this afternoon and hear a fair and able presentation of the issues of the campaign.

"POOR" KANSAS

THE advertisements printed by the Colorado Business Men's Home Rule League in opposition to prohibition (see Evening Telegraph almost any day) contain frequent references to Kansas as a horrible example of the effect of prohibition on prosperity and progress. Since all of the facts in the case are on the contrary side of the proposition the liquor advocates content themselves with generalizations, as for instance, the absurd statement that Kansas has no city as big as Denver, which may mean anything or nothing.

We reprint from a pamphlet distributed by the Anti-Saloon League a few figures showing the real status of Kansas under prohibition.

[illegible]

While dry Kansas has [illegible]

[illegible]

Remember—Kansas [illegible] $1.20 per thousand [illegible] valuation. Colorado's [illegible] is $1.30 on full valuation [illegible] high as Kansas' rate [illegible] Commons [illegible] tion by adding $1.5[illegible] assessed valuations. [illegible] ver alone is $30,372 [illegible] payers will contribute [illegible] tional to the support [illegible]

* * * * *

Again it is true [illegible]

In dry Kansas eighty-seven counties have [illegible] jails are empty [illegible] prisoners in the [illegible] counties have [illegible] [illegible] farms are [illegible] up by the state [illegible] [illegible] years [illegible] had a criminal [illegible] In North Dakota [illegible] counties in the state have no [illegible] ties have no jails at all [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

Colorado Denver sends more prisoners to the state penitentiary each year than the entire 105 counties of Kansas. Warden Tynan says, "There are 900 prisoners in the penitentiary at Canon City, and liquor sent 90 per cent of them there." The percentage of alcoholic insanity in Kansas is only 2.3 per cent, while in the license states it ranges from 31 to 60 per cent.

And this paragraph is worth thinking about:

Talk about bleeding Kansas. The only thing Kansas bleeds is money. She loaned $50,000,000 to Wall Street in 1907 to help relieve the financial depression caused by the panic, and while Kansas is out of debt and prospers, wet Colorado keeps on issuing bonds to pay her rapidly increasing indebtedness.

RISING TO AN EMERGENCY

PROBABLY no more serious commercial situation affecting a great number of people was brought about by the European war than the problem of handling the cotton crop. Without a market the European factories being closed, the South found itself with four million bales of cotton on its hands and, characteristically, it set about to wrestle with its task. Thousands of persons are dependent upon a fair market for the staple and the general prosperity of the section demands not only the sale of this year's crop and putting into circulation of the millions of dollars tied up in cotton, but the assurance of a sale for next year's crop.

Out of the flood of ways and means for handling the situation the "Buy-a-Bale" plan proved the most feasible, and the degree of success that has attended this scheme is cause for congratulation to the great South. A million bales will be bought, it is estimated, and not only from the South, but from other sections as well, the propaganda has been given assistance. Men and women of all classes are paying $50 each for bales of cotton and are storing them, many for investment, but many more from a patriotic standpoint. One feature of the plan has been its tribute to the value of advertising. Buyers of bales display them at their homes, at their stores and all are trying to demonstrate their loyalty to their section in a time of need. Pending the return of the market to normal conditions the cotton is to be held by the buyer.

Another indication of sectional pride has been the willingness of the interior merchant to accept cotton for a time as a medium of exchange. Planters are paying off accounts with bales of cotton. Where a few weeks ago calamitous prices were expected, today the commodity is selling for a fair average cost of production.

Efforts are being made to increase the consumption of cotton in the United States and "cotton days" are suggested, when special sales of cotton goods, instead of woolen and the higher priced materials, are to be conducted. The great cotton mills of New England are to be speeded up, if the South has its way. The South has rallied to its crucial problem with a loyalty that is amazing, one that helps fill the pocketbook.

Explosions in the North Sea are almost as frequent as in the Colorado coal fields. The former, of course, are war, but the latter are part of our civilized method of handling this valuable resource.

CONDEMNS THE TELEGRAPH

To the Editor of The Gazette.

As a factor for righteousness in our fair city and state we deplore the inconsistency and attitude of one of our leading papers, the Evening Telegraph [illegible] set forth in its issue of October [illegible] wherein [illegible] is given concerning the liquor traffic and the attack by Billy Sunday on the saloon. His sermon on "Booze," Sunday, October 4, in Denver before a huge audience, and on the very same page is vividly portrayed the half truths that have been circulated by the liquor traffic relative to [illegible] ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt and our honorable president, Woodrow Wilson. And as a disgrace to good citizenship the admonition is given to vote against statewide prohibition.

Therefore we the members of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society of the Tourist Memorial United Brethren in Christ church in executive session do hereby place ourselves on record favoring statewide prohibition and disapprove of any daily paper allying itself with the liquor traffic by the use of such advertising in behalf of the youth of our city, state and nation, we plead for a dry Colorado.

FROM OTHER PENS

WHEN PEACE IS MADE

From Life.

The interesting thing ahead when the fighting is finished is the unscrambling of Europe. The German mind takes no account of it. It is all for making Europe a great German trust, capitalized high enough to give a huge profit on the war, full of subsidiaries and with common and preferred and the other trimmings.

The German idea is [illegible] strength and then keep [illegible]

[illegible] ment for our big trusts—economy and efficiency of administration, capacity to do large things on a large scale, and all that. All the small, independent concerns of Europe would be incorporated into the big German trust, and made fabulously profitable to the owners by a perfected organization and the extirpation of competition. No more Belgium, no more Holland, no Switzerland as little England is possible, a pared-down France and a grand [illegible] Germany.

But the English idea seems to be quite different.

We want this war to settle the map of Europe on national lines and according to the true wishes of the people who dwell in the disputed areas.

After the blood that is being shed we want a natural and harmonious settlement which liberates races, restores the integrity of nations, subjugates no one and permits a genuine and lasting relief from the waste and tension of armaments under which we suffered so long.

So Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, and what he says is a proper sentiment for England who cannot hope to occupy the world by her unaided force, and has need of contented neighbors to work with. Part of the great problem will be to devise due possibilities of contentment for all the Germans except the military caste and not even that can the allies shirk.

There will be sixty-odd million very valuable Germans left when the war is over and that is [illegible] too many people to be left with punctured hopes or without a satisfying vision of the future. Somehow matters must be handled so that in 20 years Germans will say: "After all, it was a good war for us. It delivered us from militarism and Pan-Germanism and left us free to live and work and trade in a world no longer unfriendly."

WAR IS FOUGHT BY BOYS

From the Denver News.

That war is fought by boys is a familiar truth that we often forget. But the records of our own Civil war prove it overwhelmingly.

The war department rolls show that in the great rebellion there were enlisted in the army of the north 2,778,309 men, and of these 25 were 10 years old and younger, 225 12 years old and under, 1,523 14 years and under, 844,891 16 years and under, 1,151,438 18 years and under, 2,159,798 21 years and under and 618,511 22 years and over.

When war thus takes away the young manhood of the country, who can estimate its cost?

DIGUSTING PATRIOTISM

From Ed Howe's Monthly.

How silly some of the great families are. A son of the emperor of Germany is a soldier and recently telegraphed his father: "Papa, God has been good to me. He has permitted me to be wounded in the leg in my country's cause." Patriotism of that kind is as disgusting as drunkenness. This fool prince may some day be emperor of Germany, and as ready to hurry into a fight as his father.

Brain Quirks

BY RUTH CAMERON

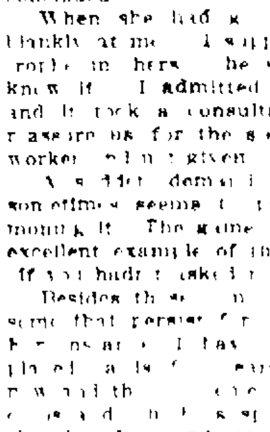

"How do you spell 'friend'?" someone asked me the other day.

I supplied the information with some surprise. My interrogator was a good speller. I could not forbear asking, "Didn't you know?"

"Oh, yes," he said, "I knew, but it went from me."

Aren't these little quirks in the brain that make us incapable of remembering simple familiar facts queer things?

I have a friend of [illegible] standing to whom I have written many letters and who has written me as many more. One day I was called upon to write her name on a legal document [illegible]

[illegible] the last name, I wrote [illegible] with ways to see which looked right. And each time the last way seemed the right one. The way in which I eventually put it on the document was wrong. Yet I must have written that name at least a hundred times before without hesitating in the spelling.

In an office in which I once worked a stenographer one day fought in a cold [illegible] trying. "I've been looking over this copy," she said, "and I [illegible] left the apostrophes out of here every time. I've fixed them now," she concluded.

HAY

Hay is a sort of excelsior which is used for stuffing horses.

It consists of various sorts of grass in a mummified condition. All spring until midsummer the hay crop grows up by itself without training, cultivation or suggestions from the farmer. A hay field gets less attention than the child whose parents are bursting into the smart set. Day in and out the farmer cultivates his corn, chases chinch bugs out of his wheat and looks at the market quotations on oats with frantic dis[illegible]. But when the meadow is waist high he greases up the mower, gets out the horse rake, hoists the rack on the wagon and proceeds to make hay.

[illegible]. Hay harvest is an infallible cure for drought. If they raised more hay in the Sahara desert there would be less dry weather in that region. When the rain falls on his hay the farmer curses capably and scatters it out to dry again. Then he loads it onto a half acre wagon with pitchforks. A skillful farmer can get more hay on a fork than an Italian can spaghetti. When the farmer has stuffed his barn so full of hay that it sticks out of the cracks like the stuffing in a cheap sofa, he bales the rest into neat little blocks looking like breakfast food for Goliath, and sells them for $20 a ton. The farmer who has almost 40 acres of good meadow, which comes up of its own accord in the spring and hands him a few tons of hay per acre in return for a little skillful fork work has no reason to complain about the tariff or anything else.

We hear a great deal about the wonders of wheat and the greatness of corn, to say nothing of the royalty of cotton. But in a quiet unassuming way the hay fields of this nation add each year about $600,000,000 to its wealth. This is more than we get for wheat or oats or cotton or hogs. But no one spends any time throwing bouquets at the humble hay. What it appears to need most in these days is a press agent.

LONGMONT SUGAR FACTORY OPENS FOR BIG CAMPAIGN

LONGMONT, Oct. 6.—The sugar making campaign at the Longmont factory opened this morning, the first beet being sliced at 7 o'clock. The campaign will last until the middle of January. About 600 men will be employed at the factory, 100 more being employed during the next two months in the factory yards, at the beet dumps and at field work.

The crop is proving one of the most satisfactory beet yields ever produced in this section. The tonnage is heavy and the sugar content far above the average of former years. This coupled with the fact that the company will pay for the crop on the 1912 basis will give the farmers big returns for the crops.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 7, 1884

Phil Strubel, John C. Kloepfer, John W. Carrie and Dan Butler agreed to close their barber shops at 8 o'clock on week days, 10 o'clock on Saturdays and at noon on Sundays and legal holidays.

The county commissioners levied special school taxes for the various districts in the county. That for Colorado Springs was eight mills.

Considerable snow fell in the mountains.

Dr. L. St. George Tucker had purchased the lot north of Matthew Kennedy's house on Weber street and was about to erect a residence there.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 7, 1894

A very pleasant reception was given in the Y. M. C. A. rooms in honor of Mr. Hutchinson, the new teacher of gymnastics.

The completion of the Coliseum (Temple theater) was assured by 20 business men having guaranteed $100 each. The plasterers were about to begin work.

There were over 5,100 people registered in the city and the lists were still far from complete.

RURAL SANITATION

The New York State grange adopted a report the early part of this year in which it complained that the farmer's family was not getting a fair deal. It showed that in 1900 the New York city death rate was about 25 per cent higher than the rural death rate. In 10 years, 1900-1910, the New York city death rate dropped nearly 2? per cent and the rural rate increased a trifle, so that in 1910 the death rates were the same. By 1913 the New York city rate had fallen from 15.8 to 13.7, while the rural rate remained at practically the 1910 figure, 15.9.

Thereupon the farmer complained that he was being neglected. It will be remembered that two years ago the Montgomery county (Indiana) farmers complained when Dr. Hurty told them they were not as healthy as they should be. It is evident that farmers do not always agree as to what they want.

The New York state department of health heard the cry of the farmers as expressed in the report of the state grange and issued a bulletin on rural sanitation. This bulletin tells the farmer some of the things which he should do to protect his family.

It is a mistake to suppose that country babies do not suffer from bad milk. The figures show that they do. The bulletin says the only really safe thing to do is to heat or pasteurize the milk before using it. There is no more reason why we should drink raw milk than eat raw meat.

To pasteurize on a country stove place the milk in a bottle in a tin bucket of water. Then set the bucket of water containing the bottle of milk on the back of the stove and leave it there for 30 minutes. Then cool the milk and keep it cold.

JIM JAMS

H. J. K. writes: The writer is troubled with what the old Germans call jim jams. This is a slight ache or tingling sensation in the calf of the leg, usually after supper, when about to retire and lasting until I fall to sleep. Could you inform me what might cause same? According to your statement the German "jim jams" differs from the American variety. Eat no supper, or nothing except cheese and crackers. Especially avoid starchy foods. Take a foot bath followed by a massage of your legs from the knees down.

You refer to the sulphur fumes in the bleaching of apricots, apples and other fruits. Incidentally the fruit is sterilized and therefore it keeps better.

Wiley devotes about a page to this subject, saying it is harmful. However he thinks the matter not settled and suggests further experiments.

I doubt if the amount of sulphur in such fruits is a source of harm.

BRAVES AT PHILLY; THOUSANDS IN LINE FOR SALE THIS A. M.

Advance Guard of Bostonese Watch Athletics in Action

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—The Boston National league baseball team, which will meet the Philadelphia Americans for the championship of the world, arrived here tonight to prepare for the opening game of the series, scheduled for Friday. Despite the injury to Third Baseman Smith in today's game at Brooklyn, the Boston players continued to express confidence in their ability to defeat the present world's champions.

Fred Mitchell, the former American league player who is now coaching the Boston pitchers, witnessed today's game at the American league grounds here between the Athletics and New York Highlanders. He declared that the loss of Smith might weaken the batting strength of the Braves, but that Deal is an equally good fielder. Pitcher Rudolph and Catcher Whaling also arrived here ahead of the rest of their squad and witnessed the Athletics in action.

Interest Greater Than Ever.

Interest in the approaching series appears even greater than in former years here. Nearly 1,000 boys and men were in line tonight awaiting a chance to purchase tickets for the series at the opening of the public sale tomorrow morning. Joseph Banks, the 18-year-old Camden youth who took his place at the entrance to the store where the tickets will be sold early yesterday morning, retained his position tonight, although he was relieved several times by his brother. Many of those holding places in the line had provided themselves with cushions and lunch, while the monotony of the long wait was broken by several games of casino and pinochle.

Joseph M. McCready, who has charge of the press applications for the game, announced tonight that the reservations will be ready for delivery at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and would be available at the press headquarters here. Judging from the number of applications, he said, there will be more newspaper men present at the coming series than ever before. Among the requests for reservations are 11 from correspondents of papers in Havana, Cuba.

TIGER MACHINE RUNNING SMOOTHLY; COACH STILL ILL

Othgeb May Be Out With Squad Today; Signal Drill Keeps Athletics on Field Until Dark

Despite the fact that they missed Coby's cheerful and urging presence on the battlefield, the Tiger machine, running more smoothly every day, went through its drill tactics last night in splendid style. Assistant Coach Hickox was watching and directing the play and he put plenty of tabasco into the scrimmage and signal work as well. Othgeb's condition is improving and he may be out tonight. In the scrimmage he tried a new stunt that brought out the best in the players. He put the Krupp backfield, consisting of Schweiger, at fullback, Esmoll and Dwyer at halves and Balchat at quarter, with the heaviest freshman line he could assemble. The light backfield was inserted into the varsity eleven when they went to it. Taylor was playing at full for the ponies, with Turner and Davis at halves and Ross at quarter and for a time the light backs tore things up with the other squad. The big backfield was stopped, but not all the time and not easily, and the Tiger line. Then the coach reversed things.

Following this a long period of signal drill was indulged in. Adams, Billings and Sheldon were given chances on the line and worked in good shape.

Undoubtedly the team is working like a well-oiled machine. The men are charging low, hitting hard and the plays are moving rapidly. Certainly things look good for the Tigers this fall. All the players are steadily getting into the "pink" and unless accidents happen should be in tip-top shape for Utah on October 17.

Plans are being made for a game with the freshman first team Saturday. Probably the second freshman team will play the team from the Deaf and Blind institute, coached by Harry Mack and A. L. Brown. The mutes are playing good ball.

Every man in college must take physical training but can substitute football for this work. Thus a larger number of men are coming out for the team. This is especially true of the freshmen.

Luck Will Be Mysterious Factor in Series

Breaks May Give Either Team the Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Luck probably will be the biggest factor in deciding the baseball championship of the world.

With the teams almost evenly matched in pitching power, with the team close together in batting power, and the fielding edge of the Braves offset by the base-running advantage of the Athletics, it is likely that the club that wins the series that starts Friday, will be the club that gets the "breaks" of the game.

When it is admitted by baseball authorities that luck is 70 per cent in baseball and that ability counts only 30 per cent in the grand total, it will be seen just how little dependence can be placed upon the "dope" that is furnished by figures.

If two teams were to fight it out for a stretch of 30 to 50 games, the team that was superior in ability eventually would rise triumphant. But in a series limited to seven games, it's a different story. One lucky "break" may give one team the edge in the early part of the series and that advantage will be big enough to carry them through to victory before the other team has a chance to recover.

Luck has figured largely in every world series game to date, and there is every reason to believe that the coming series will be no exception. And, as things look now, it's the team that gets the most "breaks" right at the jump that will grab the championship.

Luck in 1912 Series

The Red Sox defeated the Giants in the 1912 world series not because they really were a superior ball team, but very largely because they got the "breaks" of the game. The muff that Snodgrass made in the ninth inning of the final game was an inexcusable piece of work—yet it was a wonderfully lucky "break" for the Red Sox.

Teh fly that Engle drove at Snodgrass in that game was the easiest chance that had been offered to Snodgrass throughout the series. It was a drive that was directly at him. He didn't have to move 10 feet. It was so easy that he took it too easy—and dropped it. His error lost the game and gave to the Red Sox the title of world champions.

It was luck for the Red Sox—sheer luck. But their luck didn't begin in that game. Several times during the early part of the series they got the "breaks"—and riding along with the "breaks" they rode to victory.

Back in 1906 Rohe, a substitute in the White Sox ranks, delivered a brace of hits that gave the White Sox the championship of the world. Rohe was regarded as the weakest hitter among the "hitless wonders." Yet it was Rohe who delivered the punches. Can anyone deny that the hits he made at the critical moments were not hits of luck for the White Sox? If Rohe had been a .300 hitter fandom might have expected him to deliver a timely swat. But he wasn't a .300 hitter. He'd gone hitless day after day during the regular season, yet, when the world series was played, he smashed out the wallops that were fatal to the Cubs.

In nearly every world series in the past there are records of "breaks" that have come at some time or other in nearly every game. And, the winner of the series, invariably has been the team that has garnered the larger share of the "breaks." There have been times when the division of "breaks" has been about even—and neither side has been favored. But those times have been rare.

Ability Only 30 Per Cent.

John McGraw is among the many baseball men who declare that ability counts for only about 30 per cent in deciding a ball game.

"A game is 70 per cent luck," remarks the Giant leader. "If you're lucky you'll win, no matter what a dub team you are handling. And, if you're unluckey, you won't win, no matter how many stars you have in your lineup."

Christy Mathewson, hero of hundreds of diamond duels, agrees with his chief.

"There have been times in my career when I have lost games that I should have won had the breaks been with me," says Matty. "And there have been other times when luck was with me and I won, although I had nothing on the ball, and had no license to win.

"A team can go into a game and play the greatest game of its career, yet, if it isn't favored by luck to a certain extent, at least, it cannot win. Luck is the biggest factor in every ball game."

Bill Bradley, manager of the Brooklyn Federals, and a big league star for many years, echoes the sentiments of McGraw and Mathewson. He goes even farther than McGraw by saying that baseball is made up of 75 per cent luck.

"Luck is the all-important factor in a ball game," says Bradley. "Sheer skill doesn't count for much in the total. Evidences of this are apparent every day. Very often the league-leading team has gone against the tail-end team and been beaten soundly."

"And so, in face of these facts, cited by men who are old in baseball experience, fandom may prepare itself for some real surprises when the Braves and Athletics go into battle on Friday.

INDIANAPOLIS HORSES TO FRONT OVER TINKER'S CREW

Hoofeds Win Double, While Chicago Drops One; Two More Games to Play; Tinx Must Win Both

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Chicago's chances for winning the Federal league pennant grew dubious today when the locals dropped both games of a double-header to Kansas City, 1 to 0 and 5 to 3, while Indianapolis now is a full game ahead of Chicago, and if it wins one of its two remaining games, will win the championship. For Chicago to win the pennant, Indianapolis must lose both remaining games and Chicago must win its single one. One of the games played today was scheduled for tomorrow and set ahead to avoid a conflict with the opening of the Cubs-Sox series. The final game will be played here Thursday.

Kansas City won the opening game on Chalbourne's single and Perring's double in the sixth. The visitors routed Fisk and his enemy ball in the second contest, which went only seven innings because of darkness:

Army-Navy Game Row Peeves Officials; May Not Be Settled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The athletic associations at Annapolis and West Point must reach a prompt agreement if there is to be an Army-Navy football game this year.

A conference today between Secretary Daniels and Lieutenant Commander Fairfield of the naval academy failed to bring about an understanding and both the navy man and Colonel Wilcox, representing West Point, were personally notified that the war and navy departments had made their last effort to find a solution of the disagreement as to the site of the ground.

TAPS SOUND TODAY FOR MAJOR LEAGUES SMITH OF BRAVES BREAKS LEG IN GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—James C. Smith, third baseman of the Boston National league club, broke his right leg just above the ankle in sliding to second base in the ninth inning of the first game of today's doubleheader with Brooklyn. Smith's place in the world's series will be taken by Charles Deal, utility infielder.

Manager Stallings and Captain Evers, questioned tonight as to what effect the loss of Smith would have on the work of the Braves in the championship series, both declared his absence would not be a serious handicap to the team's effectiveness as Deal could fill the place satisfactorily. Other members of the team expressed the same opinion. All the players declared themselves confident of winning against the Athletics in the big series.

Deal played third base for the Braves in the early part of the season but developed "charley horse" and suffered from sore throat. His place was taken by Smith, who was purchased from Brooklyn. It was stated tonight that Deal was fully recovered and will be in condition for the world's series.

"We were well prepared for just such a contingency," said Manager Stallings. "I am glad to be in a position to say there is not a place on the team into which we could not put a sub at a moment's notice.

"Let me tell you we are going to give the Athletics the hardest run they ever got when we meet them in the coming series."

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6.—By defeating Boston 3 to 2, in the opening game of the double-header which closed the National league season here today, Brooklyn finished in fifth place. This is the best showing a Brooklyn team has made since 1907, when the Superbas ended in fifth place. "Red" Smith, the Boston third baseman, broke a leg in the first game today and will not be able to play in the world's series against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Boston took the second game in seven innings. The new champions put a makeshift into the field, and its hitting of Rucker's offerings resulted in an early lead. Strand, pitching for Boston, made a good impression.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—Manager Mack sent in two of his veteran pitchers and Wyckoff in the game against New York this afternoon, the visitors winning, 2 to 1. Only one hit and a pass were allowed in three innings by Bender, but errors by Barry, Oldring and Bender permitted Maisel to get to third base in the first inning and the latter stole home. Plank also allowed a single and a pass in three innings. The visitors got the winning run off Wyckoff's wild throw and Cook's single. Bender struck out five batsmen, Plank, two, and Wyckoff one. With the exception of Baker and Lapp, who made a single and a double each, the home team did very light work at the stick. Mitchell, Whaling and Rudolph of the Boston Braves witnessed the game.

TERRORS TO PLAY SACRED HEART IN DENVER SATURDAY

Will Be Hardest Game of Season for Cogsdill's Heavy Eleven; Working Hard on Plays

The Terrors are working hard, almost frantically, for their game on Saturday in Denver with the Sacred Heart team. It will undoubtedly be the hardest game of the season for the Brown and White players and Coach Cogsdill is putting his players through their paces until dark to get them in shape. The faults that showed up in the West Denver game last Saturday are being corrected as rapidly as possible. Many of the backfield men leave their interference, when carrying the leather, and when making interference do not watch their opponents closely enough. The team still fumbles considerably, but a great deal of improvement was shown in last night's workout.

Last night Cogsdill put his first and second teams together and scrimmaged most of the afternoon. The line made a brilliant showing, while the backfield men, Captain Gray, O. Richardson, Bowen, Clark and Linderholm are gaining speed daily. All the players are in good shape, except for minor bruises. The coach has ordered them to bed at 10 o'clock every night.

Scrimmage with the Tigers is scheduled for tonight.

MOYER CLAIMS TITLE OF REGION IN FEATHER CLASS

Bout at Ramona Tomorrow Night With Fighting Fireman Temple Promises to Be Good

"I claim the featherweight championship of the Pikes Peak region, because I have defeated every man who has battled with me for it," said W. E. Moyer yesterday. Moyer meets Fireman Temple tomorrow night for a 15-round fight at Ramona.

"However," Moyer went on, "I consider the Fighting Fireman the most legitimate contender for the honor, as he is a boxer of unquestioned ability and deserves recognition. We have been willing to get together for several years, but it seems that something has come up every time."

Moyer is a clever infighter and a good man on defense and attributes this to a fight he had when he first broke into the game. He was badly beaten by his opponent because he tried to hit him too hard. Then he began to study infighting and took up catch-as-catch-can wrestling.

The scrap at Ramona tomorrow night is attracting considerable attention from the fans. Moyer is training at Ramona, while Temple is punching his pals at the fire station.

Following is a physical comparison of the two men:

SLAVERY AND POLYGAMY BARRED IN PHILIPPINES

Involuntary Servitude Exists at Present Time, Is Charge Made in Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Charges that slavery now is practiced in the Philippine archipelago despite legislation by the Philippine assembly to check it, were made in the house during debate today on the Jones Philippine bill, which occupied representatives virtually the entire day. An amendment by Representative Cooper finally was adopted declaring that "slavery shall not exist in the Philippine islands nor shall involuntary servitude exist therein except as a punishment for a crime."

Other amendments adopted prohibit plural marriages and provide that civil and political rights in the islands shall not rest upon any religious test. They also prohibit the use of public funds or property for religious institutions or instruction, and provide that private property shall be taken for public use only when just compensation is made. Primogeniture also is prohibited.

PRES. WILSON AND CABINET DISCUSS STRIKE SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson and his cabinet today considered the Colorado strike situation and as a result further efforts will be made to get the coal operators to accept the plan of settlement already adopted by the miners.

Secretary Wilson said a settlement was still being sought along the lines of the original plan and that no other method was in contemplation.

HOOSIERS PROTEST AGAINST AUTO TAX

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—The Indiana Automobile Manufacturing association, the Hoosier Motor club and affiliated clubs and workmen employed in the automobile factories of Indiana today protested against the proposed tax on automobiles and on the capital stock of automobile manufacturing companies.

Representatives of 32 motor car makers sent a telegram to Representative Lincoln Dixon of the ways and means committee urging that he use his influence against such a tax. Owners of cars and workmen joined the manufacturers in sending telegrams of protest to President Wilson, to congress and members of the Indiana delegation in congress.

The messages state that practically all the motor cars built in the United States are manufactured in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio and the tax would be discriminatory.

GERMANS SURPRISED AT EFFECTIVENESS OF THE KAISER'S NAVY

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—By wireless Press matter derived from official German sources says:

"Surprise generally is expressed at the amazing activity of the German cruisers stationed abroad. Though it was generally expected that the vessels would fall easy victims to British warships within a fortnight after the declaration of war Germans now are astonished to learn from reports in the British and French press of the damage they are doing to the merchant marine of the enemy.

The Goeben, Breslau, Emden Karlsruhe and the Leipzig are the names of the German vessels whose successes have caused the most satisfaction in Germany.

In addition the cruisers, Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, stationed in the Pacific, are reported to have been busy in the vicinity of Tahiti, Society islands, where they succeeded in destroying the French gunboat Seele.

"The attempts of the powers composing the triple entente to enforce the opening of the Dardanelles have failed. The Russian ambassador at Constantinople is described as being furious on account of the embargo placed on the exportation of Russian grain and on the importation of arms.

The increased Turkish navy, it is expected, soon will be sailing in the Black sea. The Turkish press is publishing attacks on England because of the suppression of the Khedival rights in Egypt."

A neutral correspondent behind the French front in the department of the Marne estimates that the fugitive civilian population in northern France numbers 10,000,000 and that these persons are in great distress.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS ADMIT SITUATION GRAVE

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The correspondent of the Daily News at Copenhagen telegraphs the following:

Vivid accounts of the fighting appear in the German newspapers and the writers admit that the situation is desperate.

The Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, describing the frontier fighting in the Vosges region, says:

"The officers and men have been fighting day and night for 37 days and the Germans are facing a difficult strategic situation in the mountains where they are rendering superhuman services, chiefly in water-filled trenches and under almost indescribable conditions.

"The strain is said to be almost unendurable. The French are fortified in excellent positions on the Vosges and it is impossible to see their guns. No German troops have been able to retire from the fighting line for rest.

"The army chaplains accompany the troops right to the front and are holding religious services and preaching sermons in the trenches.

"Bad weather is causing much sickness."

BILLARD IS SUED BY NEW HAVEN COMPANY

MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 6.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company and the New England Navigation company today brought suit in the New Haven county superior court against John L. Billard of this city and six other officers of the Billard company for the recovery of $3,824,147, alleging fraudulent action in connection with the sale of the Boston & Maine railroad.

The complaint sets forth that Mr. Billard as holder of the Boston & Maine stock owned by the New Haven road previous to 1908 never had paid nor accounted to the plaintiffs for $3,824,147 in cash held by him in secret trust for the New Haven road for the purpose of concealing the actual ownership.

FATE OF MINIMUM WAGE LAW IN SEVERAL STATES DEPENDS ON COURT RULING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The constitutionality of minimum wage legislation on behalf of women, adopted recently in several states, will be determined quickly if the supreme court acts favorably next Tuesday on a request for early consideration of the case testing the validity of the Oregon minimum wage law. State officials, employers and employes in Oregon will join in asking the court for immediate decision, according to notice filed today.

California, Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin have enacted minimum wage laws similar to the Oregon law, and test cases are pending in several states.

SPAIN TO MAINTAIN STRICTEST NEUTRALITY

U. S. AGENTS ABROAD URGED TO QUIT WAR ZONE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—State department officials have decided to take no chances on losing any of their agents by permitting them to remain within the danger zone of any European battlefield. ## RESERVE BOARD MAY AID THE COTTON BANKERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The federal reserve board took steps today to give its approval to the plan proposed by bankers of the middle west to relieve conditions in the cotton market through a $150,000,000 loan fund. Festus J. Wade of St. Louis and other bankers who helped form the plan were asked to come to Washington for a conference and it is possible that the plan will receive the approval of the board before the close of the present week.

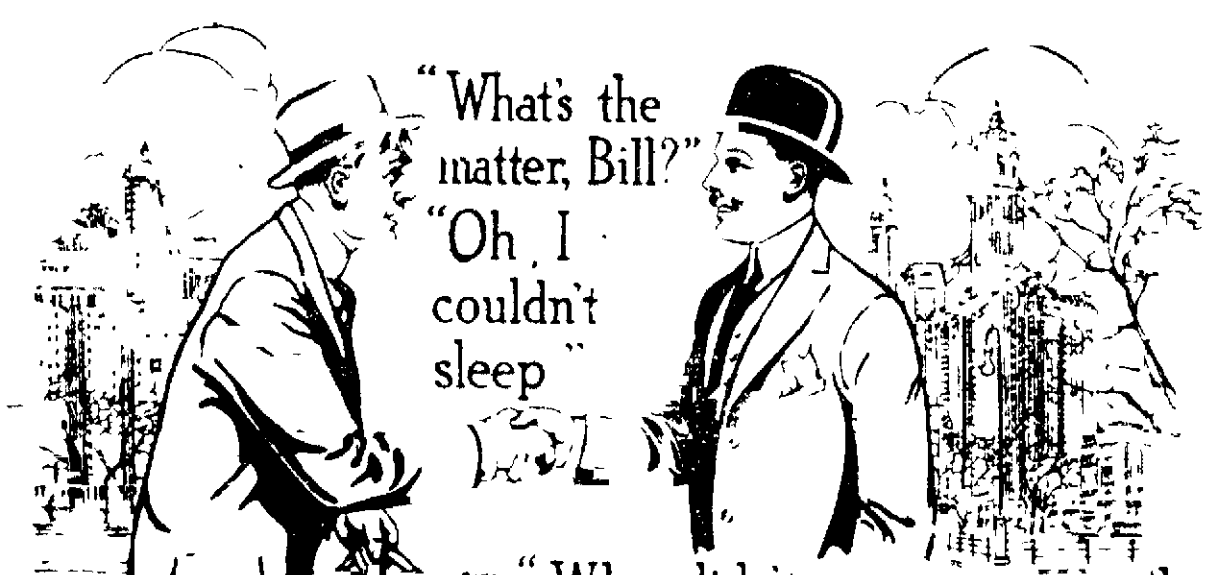

The board appointed Governor Hamlin, Paul M. Warburg and W. P. G. Harding members of a committee to talk with the bankers. Although board members have no knowledge of the details of the plan it was believed ... that in principle it was agreeable and that unless there are unlooked for obstacles it will be indorsed.

WHY THE GERMAN ARMY IS SUCH A FIGHTING MACHINE

Practically Every Man in the Empire Is a Soldier; Military Organization Greatest on the Continent

By HERBERT TEMPLE.

European manager of the International News Service.)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A British military expert, discussing the relative merits of the contending armies now in the field, has this unbiased opinion of the German army.

"In the discussions which are taking place on all sides in these stirring times of war the remark is frequently heard that every German is a soldier. Now, this is not strictly true. There is, of course, a certain amount of truth in the statement, but the ideas to which it gives rise are frequently misleading and perhaps rather disheartening to us. We think of our own picked and highly trained soldiers, and we imagine perhaps that all the German men are like this and that when their numbers are taken into account they may well claim that they have an invincible army.

Jingoists Go Too Far.

"I am far from being one of those jingoists who believes that a Briton is as good as half a dozen Germans or Italians or Turks any day, but I think that some of our scaremongers go a little too far in the opposite direction and sometimes give our opponents all the credit which they claim for themselves—and the Germans claim a good deal.

"There are three ways of raising and maintaining an army. The first is by voluntary enlistment, the second by conscription and the third by universal compulsory service. Many people seem to think that conscription and universal compulsory service are alike. They are not so, however.

"Where universal service is the rule everyone who is physically fit to bear arms, with a few special exceptions such as clergymen or the only sons of widows, must serve in the army for a certain term. This is the rule in Germany, Austria, France, Russia, Servia, Turkey, Switzerland, Italy, Japan, Australia and many other countries.

Conscription System.

"In those countries where conscription prevails a certain number of men of a definite age are taken annually for the army by lot. Every man between the specified limits of age is liable to serve, but only those are taken upon whom the lots fall, the number of lots being regulated by the requirements of the army, and as all the men of suitable age are not taken, it is open to those who are selected to find or pay for substitutes. The system of conscription is followed by Belgium, Holland and Spain.

"The method of voluntary enlistment in which it is open to every man to enter the army or not according to his own free choice, is adopted by the United Kingdom, the United States, the Indian empire and China. The man who enters our army makes, as it were, a contract of service for a certain number of years and may be said to choose war as his trade or profession during that time.

"Conscription is now a little out of date and those people who think that voluntary enlistment is not sufficient for a nation's defense always advocate a change to universal service, which has the advantage of being equally fair to all. Every one who is fit must serve and the wealthy man cannot get off by buying a substitute.

Universal Compulsory Service.

"Let us now take an example of universal compulsory service and see what it is like. Every German when he reaches the age of 20 must enter the army if he is fit for service. He serves for a period of one, two or three years.

"The reason for these various terms requires explanation. The full term of service in infantry regiments is two years, in cavalry regiments, three years. But if the young German can produce a certificate testifying that he has attained a certain standard of scientific knowledge, or in other words passed a stiff examination, he is allowed to cut a year off his term of active service. This brings the cavalry term down to two years and the infantry term down to one year. The holders of these certificates, however, must pay for their own food, lodgings, clothes and weapons. They are described as one year volunteers and they have various privileges during their term of service which are not allowed to the less successful recruits. The latter are clothed, armed and supported at the expense of the state and receive pay at the rate of 22 pfennigs or more a day.

"The volunteers must make their application to serve in this class during their eighteenth year, but the actual service may be put off in some cases to the twenty-fourth year.

"When the young German soldier has completed his term with the standing army, he passes into the reserve. The two-year men serve five years in the reserve, and the three-year men, four years. Large numbers of these reservists are called up each year for a training with the active troops, which lasts about a month. The same men are not called up for two years in succession, so that they have not usually more than two trainings while they are in the reserve.

"From the reserve the soldier passes into the landwehr, which is a sort of second reserve. The infantry of the landwehr are called up for a week's or a fortnight's training at various periods for the next five or six years, after which the liability to training ceases. At the age of 40 they pass into the landsturm, in which they complete their term of military service, which ceases at the age of 45. While in the landsturm they have to answer an occasional roll-call but perform no service except in time of war and extreme urgency.

"Such in the main is the German system of compulsory service which is generally held to be the most stringent and efficient in Europe. There are many complications, chiefly in regard to different classes of arms, which it would be confusing rather than instructive to note in detail.

How Officers Are Obtained

"The officers for these troops are obtained partly by election from the ranks of the einjahrige freiwillige, who belong mainly to the wealthy and intellectual classes and partly from the cadet schools in which boys are specially educated for a military career. These cadets are usually the sons of military officers or men in the civil service and they enter the army as ensigns when they are 18 years of age and advance through the various ranks of officership in much the same way and at about the same ages as our officers do.

"The manifest advantages of a universal system like this are that it supplies the state with a large number of men who have served one or two years in the army, have learned to shoot and occupy a definite place in the army organization. These are great advantages especially when a hasty blow is to be struck. It would be foolish to minimize them.

"Yet, if we can view the matter without panic, it will be seen that something can be said for our own system. In the first place, between the British and the German standing armies there should be just the difference that there is between the professional and the amateur.

Difference in Training.

"A man who has served in the British army for, let us say, six or seven years, should know his business better than a young man of 21 or 22 who has at the most seen only three years of service. Moreover, the British soldier will in all probability have seen some actual warfare and have his skin grazed in something more serious than formal drilling. Probably, too, he has been tried in various climates, has broken with his family and territorial ties at various times, and has done transport and other work under conditions more like those of real warfare than any provided by maneuvers. Whether he is or is not better than his foes, man for man he ought to be better. And seeing that we take our ideas of what a soldier is from our own tried and professional troops, this in itself discounts a good deal of the statement that every German is a soldier.

"Then again, when we draw upon our army reserves we draw upon a body of men who have not merely done two years' service in the army, but have served under our army conditions and have had the training and experience to which I have referred. If, moreover, the German can make a satisfactory soldier in one year as he does in the case of the einjahrige freiwillige, we ought to be able to do as well or even better if our first line of defense can resist and hold back the rush, which is the prime tactics of the nation with a universal organization.

Many to Draw Upon

"Behind that rush there is nothing, broadly speaking, but middle-aged and old men and boys. The enemy has indeed the permanent resources of a larger population, but it will be met by drawing upon our imperial resources. Behind our fighting force, wholly disproportionate though it may be in the first instance, is a reserve population which contains many who are of the best fighting ages and who will, we may be sure, volunteer for the service.

"And let us not overlook the fighting virtue of the volunteer spirit. The remark that 'one volunteer is worth two pressed men' comes down to us from those days of strenuous fighting a hundred years ago when Britain was as seriously threatened as she is today; when, as I may remind you, Napoleon had his camped forces waiting to cross the channel, if only he could be master of the passage for six hours. In that crisis Britain mustered 300,000 volunteers. It is said that they would have offered but a small impediment to the veterans of the Grand army. That may or may not be true, but we must remember that the veterans of Napoleon's army were matchless because they had learned the art of war by long service and not because they had been impressed into the service.

Detest Military Service.

"One cannot compare the ordinary two-year men of the continental armies with the veterans of actual war. Many of the former heartily detest military service. Years ago I made the acquaintance of a young foreigner who was approaching the age of service. One of his greatest wishes was he might not grow taller, because if he did so he would be drafted into the cavalry instead of the infantry and have to serve a year longer. I have met others who disliked the service just as much.

"The desire to gain the certificates which shorten their terms of service in the army is in part the cause of much mental overwork and strain among German boys. It has been asserted that owing to this strain 30 per cent of the boys become short-sighted and that 40 per cent are ultimately rejected as unfit for military service. Moreover, child-suicide is unusually common in Germany and the causes are often overwork and the failure to pass the critical examinations."

FINANCIAL SITUATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—That financial relations between this center and London are gradually approaching normal conditions, was indicated today when some of the important British banking houses notified their local correspondents of their intention to draw against balances here in the regular way. Exchange on London was firm and without appreciable change. The gold pool extended its activities by purchase of bills, cables ruling at 4.96¾, with sight drafts at 4.95¼.

Another interesting feature of the exchange market was the large business transacted in bills for Amsterdam, most of which was assumed to be for Berlin interests. These developments coincided with London advices to the effect that various loans antedating the moratorium were being adjusted there. In connection with the affairs of the gold pool, it was learned that some inland reserve banks had arranged to pay their subscriptions into the subtreasury at Chicago.

Representatives of several municipalities were in tentative negotiations with local bankers respecting forthcoming loans or refunding operations, and it is expected that some short-term note issues will soon be announced. The success of the recent New York city issue has paved the way for other operations of like character, but individually they will be comparatively small.

Today's supply of cash for call and time loans was no larger and rates for these accommodations were unchanged. Western banks and other financial institutions bought sparingly of high-class mercantile paper at 7 per cent.

Cash sales of copper metal were reported today at 11¼c per pound, the lowest price in almost 13 years. Even at this figure, the supply was said to be much in excess of the demand. More shading of prices for steel and iron products was announced in jobbing circles with further circumstantial rumors of reduced wage schedules.

Suspension of proposed increases of freight rates on grains in the middle west by the interstate commerce commission was accompanied by heaviness in the market, due primarily to estimates of the visible supply. Other foodstuffs options were sympathetically affected.

The annual report of the Northern Pacific Railway company showed a decrease in total operating revenues of over $4,000,000, which was reduced to a net loss of $930,000 by a substantial saving in cost of operations.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Notwithstanding that wheat at one time today showed a substantial upturn, the bears had the advantage during most of the session. A heavy total for the stocks on hand in the United States and Canada counted against the bulls. Prices closed weak, ⅜c to 1⅛c under last night. Other leading staples, too, all suffered a net decline—corn, ⅞c to ⅞@1c, oats ⅜@½ to ⅝c, and provisions, 5c to 55c.

Domestic and Canadian stocks of wheat were estimated at 100,000,000 bushels, an aggregate of more than 7,000,000 in excess of the sum at the corresponding time a year ago. It was after the announcement of this fact that the market took a decided downward slant, from which there was no important reaction. Disappointment in regard to fresh export business counted against the bulls. It was asserted that the demand from Great Britain and France had been well satisfied for the time being and that only Italy and Holland were active as transatlantic bidders.

Suspicion that export business was on a good deal larger volume than had been generally acknowledged, formed the chief basis of a temporary advance in wheat soon after the opening. In this connection, mills northwest of here were said to have offers for immense quantities of flour. It was noticed, however, that later on there were numerous orders here from the northwest to sell wheat.

Corn gave way under predictions that the government report tomorrow would assure an increase of 50,000,000 bushels in the probable yield this season. Failure of expected rains tended also to weaken the market.

In oats, sentiment was chiefly adverse to the bulls. Export call was declared to have been lighter than for several days.

Lower prices for hogs carried down provisions. A contributing influence was the slowness of the cash demand for meats.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Little or no change was reported in the cotton situation here today. There were rains in the eastern belt threatening to damage the grade of open cotton and to delay picking, but crop news attracted very little attention and local spot dealers said their offers from the south were about the same as at the end of last week. Receipts are increasing somewhat, but are still far below the normal, and nearly all reports indicate that farmers are holding the bulk of their crops. A report is expected from the committee on rules and by-laws here within the next day or two and other committees are said to be working hard over measures necessary to a resumption of business, but no official announcements were made during the day.
